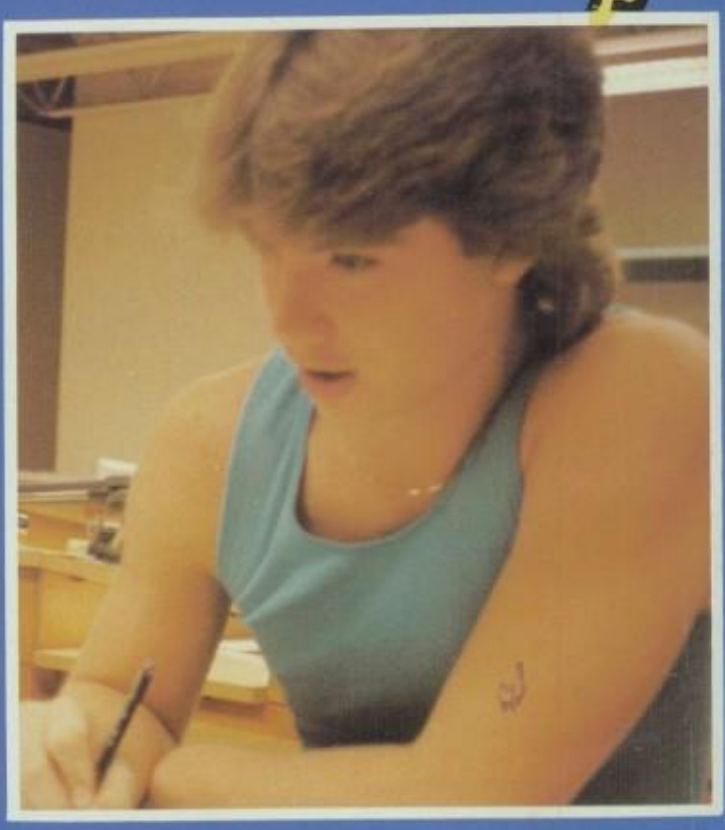
Pride of Color

Innovation, variety, originality, intensity, pride in performance; characteristics that made Wheeling High School's 23rd year stand out from all years past. It is because of these qualities that students developed not only practical skills, but also personal abilities. Every area of school life, from sports and fine arts, to academics and social life, added positive influences to each person's life. These influences contributed their own color to every person's character. 1986-87 gave everyone a chance to become as varied and colorful a person as possible.

Many areas of school were improved which added more color to the year. Innovations were evident in many facilities, policies, and programs. Over one-million dollars was used to remodel the swimming pool, the dance room, the entire gym and fieldhouse; along with installing the latest lighting equipment in the theatre, and adding a photography lab in the art hall. In addition, a tutorial program was initiated which made teachers available to students who needed help in a specific subject. Also a study skills class was developed that taught students how to improve their note taking and study skills. Gym classes also benefitted from innovations. A more stringent physical fitness program was introduced in which students were tested and then classified into skill groups. A new district policy was started that forbid any authorized smoking area on school property. Another policy was enacted that suspended any students wearing gang related colors, symbols, and slogans or any students participating in gang related activity.

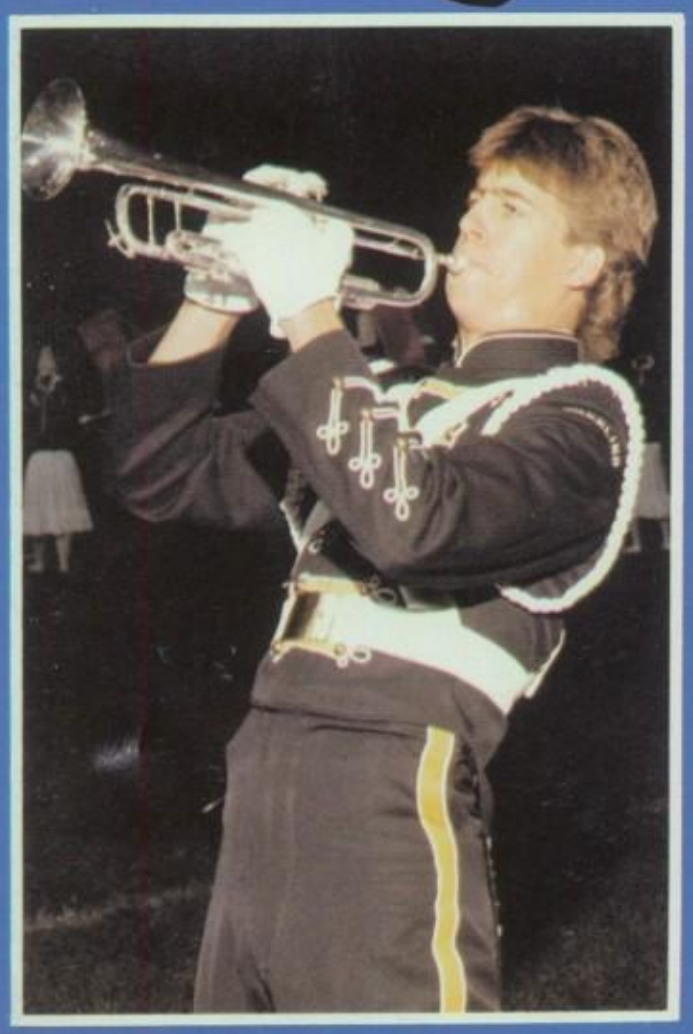
Variety, combined with innovations, added depth and individuality to the year. Over two-hundred students from twenty-five different countries combined with students involved in academics, fine arts, and sports. The atmosphere created by the innovations and variety of the year was one of increased originality and intensity and enhanced our school's motto "Pride in Performance"!



With a look of determination, Jim Small works diligently to complete his assignment for mechanical drawing class.

Surrounded by a pack of Fremd Vikings, left guard Eric Bauman blocks defenders while tight end Rocky Kleinschmidt strives for a touchdown at the homecoming game.

Smiles of wildcat pride and enthusiasm flash across the faces of varsity football cheerleaders Patti Nordstrom, Laura Matousky, and Jennifer Pollack as they cheer the crowds at Pride Night.



In "Wildcat Country," a worker finishes installing electronically controlled bleachers in the gym that were only one of the many innovations throughout the school.

Trumpet soloist Dave Smith displays his musical ability while the marching band and flag corps perform their halftime field show during the Homecoming game.

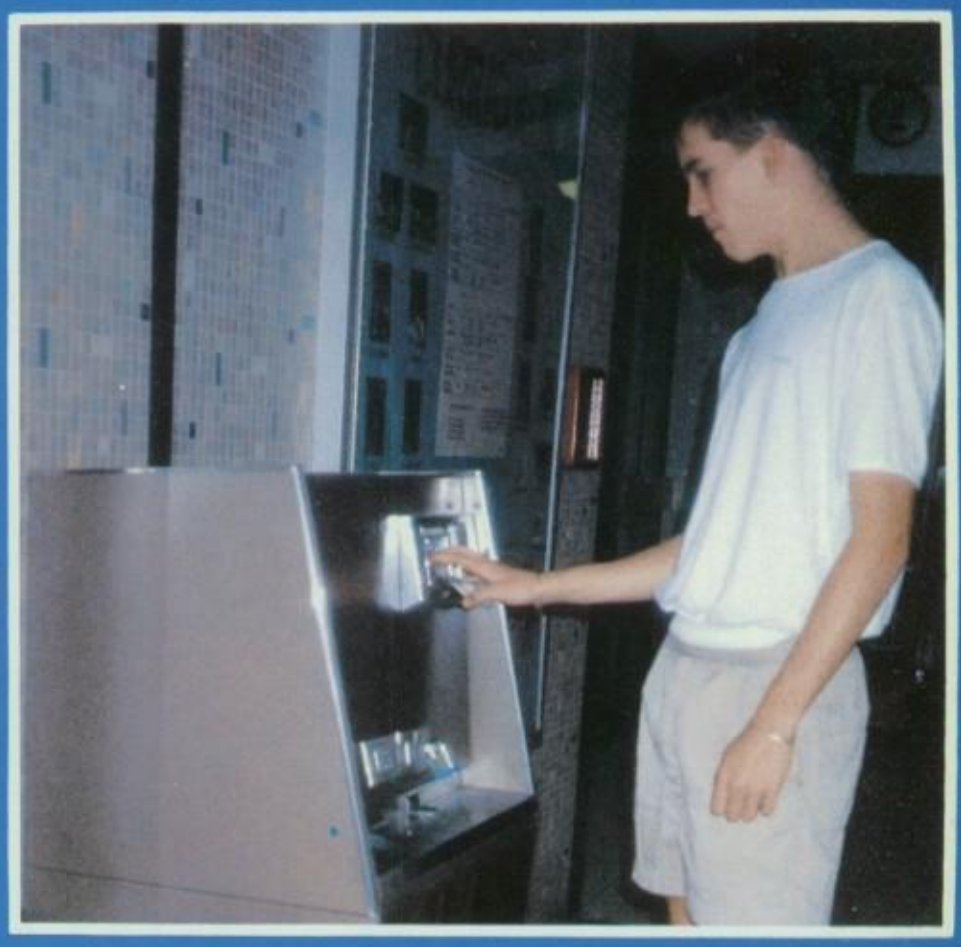
Highlights of '87

Before the end of the homecoming game, Coach Rick Benedetto takes a moment to discuss last minute strategies with varsity football players Rich McGill, Scott Dickerson and Rocky Kleinschmidt.

Dressed to "Rock Around the Clock," on fifties day are Kristin Lekberg and Brian Benner.

Art students Stacy Levin, Irene Dubinski, and Kate Knudsen receive helpful instructions from Mr. William Peck.

Improvements around the school that help many students include the change machine in the foyer, used by Andy Hagman.



School colors blue, gold, and white abound at a football game with Willy Wildcat and Willy Jr.

Shouts of excitement are heard from Debbie Luisi (Fremd student) Tim Dilloo, Dan Neilson and Steve Neilson (86).

The spirit of the freshmen is led by Meagan Gura and Jackie Germanier, as they ride the freshman float in the parade.

Twisted moments are displayed by Mark Sendef and Jennifer Pollack as they play Twister on Cats Go Wild Day.

Concentration is required for Renee Niemi to keep time during the parade.

Instructions from Ms. Rinella to Pom Cats, Bari Berman and Danielle Heuly, assure perfection at the Homecoming game.

Mike Bott assists Dawn Samuelson with her cape as she becomes the 1986 Homecoming Queen.

PROM and GRADUATION

ONE CHANCE TO CELEBRATE

As the noon hours passed on May 30, 1986, many students found themselves frantically pacing their home in anticipation. At 6:30 p.m., they would be attending the pre-prom reception at Marriott's Lincolnshire Ballroom. There, they experienced the "Just Once" Prom of 1986.

At 7:00 p.m. everyone was served an entree of filet of chicken Wellington, double baked potato, and stir-fry vegetables. For desert, they enjoyed mile-high mint chip pie.

Steve Carasso commented, "It was the best part of the meal," and many other students more than agreed with him.

After Holy Anderson was crowned queen, everyone danced to the music of "Cloud." Other court members were Kim Dary, Anne Kremples, Nikki Mitchell, and Michelle Sunde.

Ilona Bobak summed up the fun by saying, "Everyone got on the dance floor and had a great time."

The "Just Once" Prom was definitely a great way to end a great school year.

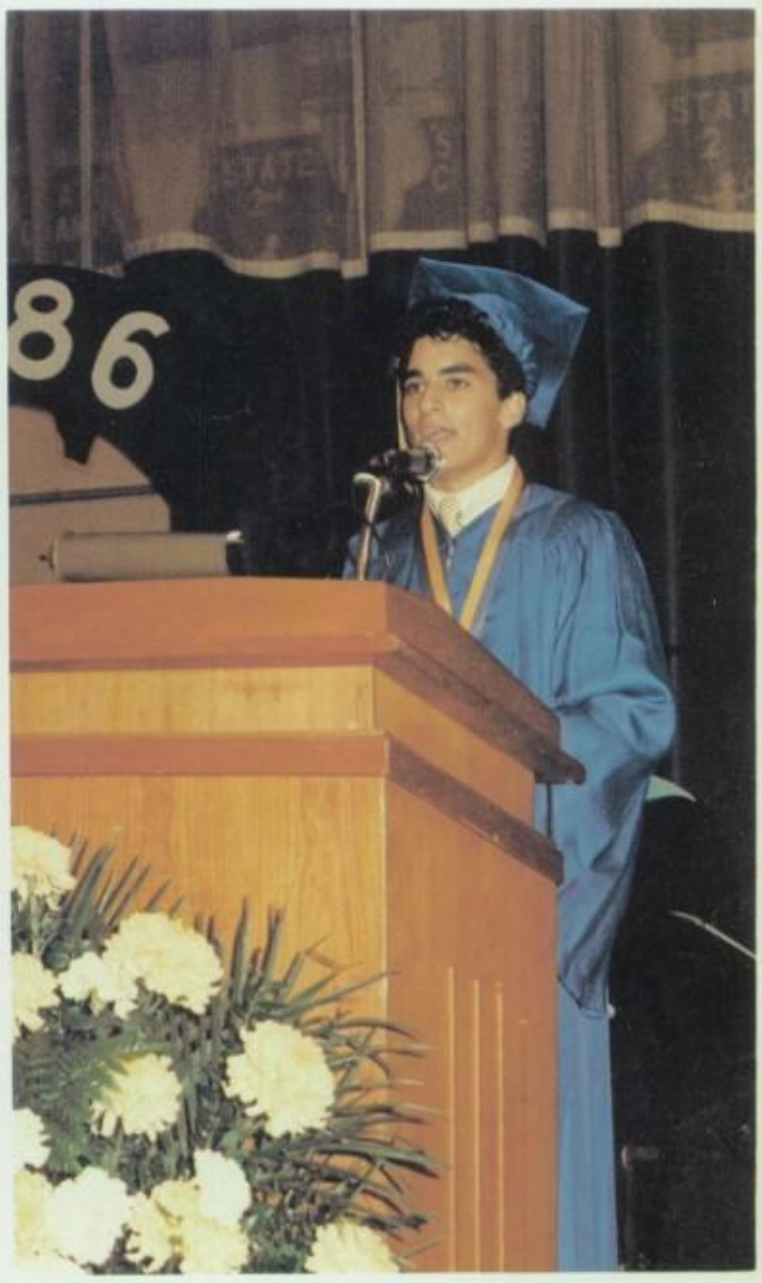
June 8, 1986, at 2:00 p.m. four great years ended for the Class of 1986 - Graduation. The bleachers in the gym were packed as the 21st annual commencement ceremony began. Dr. Joseph R. Tallman started the ceremony with the invocation. The microphone was then taken over by student speakers, Malik Diab, Perry Shorris, and Jenny Smith as they bid farewell and shared memories. The ceremony ended with the choir singing the class song, "Let's Celebrate."

Through spirit, sport, achievement, and overall excellence, the Class of 1986 is truely a class of celebration.

The class of 1986 eagerly await their diplomas at the graduation ceremony.

With the aid of a friend, court member Kim Dary makes sure everything is perfect from head to toe.

The music of "Cloud" makes Todd Beidler and Lea Carbonatto display some of their best moves on the dance floor.



Memories of an unforgettable year are shared by Malik Diab at the graduation ceremony.

Prom Queen Holly Anderson and Keith Richter share a special moment.

HOMECOMING

SPIRIT AND SUPPORT

With a week of homecoming fun behind them, the football and soccer teams were ready to show their opponents their stuff.

The spirit and support were abundant as the bleachers filled on October 17th. The 'Cats were determined to beat the Vikings, especially with all the alumni in the crowd.

Coach Benedetto added, "It was amazing to see alumni from as long as 10 years ago coming back to support the team."

The pride of the Wildcats kept them playing at their best. Throughout the game, they were neck and neck with Fremd, until the third quarter when the Vikings made their last touchdown, bringing the final score to 20-27.

Excellent effort was made by Eric Bauman, Steve Carasso, and Bob Wolf on defense, while Steve Kisielica and Mike Miloch led on offense.

Half time was livened up by an outstanding Pom Cats routine as well as a great band performance.

The spirit didn't end there. The next day, the soccer team played their most exciting game of the season. In order to prepare the team mentally, Coaches Fischbach and Blackstone decided to lay off on the players, while telling them to get out there and have a good time.

Regularly playing offense, Peter Kendler switched to defense, and did a spectacular job. The offense was kept up by Mike Bott, Dave Williams, Tuan Nguyen, and Tom Veit, who usually played goalie. Neil Hall, who took over for Veit, did an excellent job in keeping the Cats right with Loyola to the final score of five to five.

Both teams received fantastic support from their cheerleaders. The spirit was overwhelming as every squad, freshman through varsity, joined together to cheer on the Cats and keep up the Wildcat spirit.

The 1986 Homecoming Court escorted by representatives from each of the fall sports, is presented to the coronation assembly.

Couches provided in the foyer during the dance allow Karie Knudsen and Darrell Ramsey to unwind.

Spirit and support are displayed in a high five by Scott Dickinson and Mike Miloch.

Cave people, Jun Choi and Kenny Simon can't hold back their excitement as the junior class float "Begins Time."

During the parade, the varsity fall cheerleaders show their support, as they did throughout the entire season.

HOMECOMING

CATS GO WILD

Cowboys and Indians engaged in squirt gun shoot outs, racing down the foyer on hippity hops, greasers blowing immense bubbles, poodle skirt clad girls wiggling in hula hoops were just a few typical scenes observed during Homecoming week. The theme was "Cats Go Wild Through Time."

It all began on October 13 with Wildcat Ditch Day. This day was a huge success considering it also happened to be Columbus Day. The other days included Wild, Wild West Day, Cats Go Wild Day, and 50's Day, which was followed by a Soc Hop in the cafeteria at 7:00 p.m. The school week ended Friday with Blue, Gold, and White Day. Students dressed in school colors to get rowdy for the pep assembly held at the end of the day. Everyone went wild cheering the teams.

After the assembly, the parade made its rounds on a different course due to the construction on Schoenbeck Road. Senior Student Council members Scott Brandt and Brian Benner added to the parade by riding blue and gold motor scooters.

The Homecoming Court was presented on Tuesday, October 14th. Joe Gagliardi and Bob Wolf, football players, escorted Mary Hoops and Elizabeth Corbin. Kurt Vogt of the Cross Country team escorted Ann O'Connor, while Jeff Black of the golf team escorted Chrissy Fortini. Mike Bott of the Soccer team escorted Dawn Samuelson, who was announced queen on the 16th of October.

The Coronation was both lovely and wild as students showered their favorite court member with confetti. Attendants included Jennifer Jones for the Freshmen, Maureen Berquist for the Sophomores, and Angie Hamilton for the Juniors. After a wild week, everyone was ready to "Let the Good Times Roll," at the dance on Saturday night, October 18.

The good times are rolling for Tom Mc Manus, Ross Smarto, Max Anderson, and Lou Gatta, as they get down at the dance.

Foaming at the mouth is Liz Corbin, after racing to finish her plate of whipped cream.

In order for the seniors to win, Jim Mc Coy and Emily Stofcheck aggressively down their licorice at the pep assembly.

Dawn Samuelson, queen, and Mike Bott, of the soccer team, smile to the crowd at the coronation.

Soccer players Rick Geati, Sam Chung, Neil Hall, Erick Zawojewski and Dave Cuevas take a break from their exciting game

WILDCATS GET AROUND

On Tuesday, April 9th, the band embarked on a major trip. The 90 students had decided to go to the 50th annual Music Educators National Conference Convention in Anaheim, California.

"It was a great honor," said Wade Mikosz.

The band stayed at the Quality Inn, which is only a few blocks away from Disneyland. Complete with hot tub and pool, the Inn made a comfortable spot to relax and have fun.

The Wind Symphony played at the Anaheim Convention Center, and the entire band at Disneyland, and then they had a night of fun at the amusement park.

Swimming in the ocean proved to be most enjoyable for the members in the band.

"It was cold; the water was only 52 degrees!" said one band member. With Disneyland, shopping, and the beach, this trip was one enjoyed by all.

The Cats explore over the ocean ...

The Tower of London ... Bath ... Stonhenge ... Westminster Abby ... Oxford ... These were a few of the highlights seen when five students traveled to England. The one week extravaganza took place in April '86 over spring break.

After a daily tour, students were allowed to roam free, learning the English culture first hand through London, Cambridge, Bath, Oxford, Salisbury, Stratford, and Richmond, spots they visited.

Patty Lahey, ('86) David Rutizer, ('86) Tammy German, Kim Morris, and Michelle Pruzan were allowed to visit the pubs, meet the English people and do what they really wanted to do - shop!

With the typical English weather, the trip was everything the group expected - very wet!

With expressions of boredom, David Rutiezer ('86), Patti Lahey ('86), and Michelle Pruzan experience one of the joys of world travel - waiting for the plane.

Dressed in traditional garb, a Beefeater, shows Michelle Pruzan, David Rutiezer ('86), and Patti Lahey ('86) the Tower of London.

"Windsor Castle? May I speak to the queen?" asks David Rutiezer ('86) on one of England's famous phone booths.

"Cheese!" may be what Mickey Mouse is saying along with band friends Shawn Niemi, Kim Koller, Perry Shorris, Tina Krempels, Keith Conway, Wade Mikosz, Kevin Nickerson, Eric Blocher, Paul Nishimura, Renee Krempels, and Laura Winsauèr.

TRIPS

On the horns of a triceritop, Sylvia Dobo has fun with her host family at a park in Malaysa.

ALL ABOARD FOR SENIOR TRIPS

First stop!

Malaysa: a hot, tropical country located only two degrees above the equator. Most students wouldn't think of southwest Asia as an ideal place to vacation, let alone live and go to school there. But that's exactly what Sylvia Dobo did last summer for ten weeks.

"I love Asia and wanted to go there," Dobo said.

While there, Dobo stayed with a native family who provided a home for her while she took part in her new experiences.

School in Malaysa was not like school in Illinois.

"The school was three stories tall." said Dobo. "Hallways are outside since it's always 100 degrees."

But it seems some things are the same ...

"I woke up at 5:45, was at the bus stop by 6:30, school at 7:30 until 1:15, then shopped with friends."

And can Dobo speak the native tongue?

"I can say things like, 'I have two cats, a house, a car ...'"

Next stop: Japan

Christine Campuzano didn't spend summer of '86 working on her tan under the hot, basking sun. Instead she was journeying to one of the most populated countrys in the world, Japan.

"... the Japanese seem to like Americans," Campuzano said.

Campuzano is president of the Youth Lions Club, which enabled her to go to this small cluster of islands.

The places she had the privilege of visiting were: Hokkaido, the main island of Japan called Honshu, Wakkanai, Tokoro, Osaka, and Tokyo.

Growing up in Japan is different than in the U.S.A.

"Everyone looks the same, so they do what they can to be radical."

Last stop!

If you are an actor, or love the theater, your fantasy may be to tour Europe performing your way through the small towns, and putting on shows for the people ...

Well, for Brian Benner, that dream was realized.

From June 21 through August 21, Benner, along with many other people from youth groups, traveled to distant lands using drama to entertain the local families in eight different countries.

Among the countries Benner acted his way through were Scotland, France, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Amsterdam, Belguim, and England.

MADRIGALS

LORDS, LADIES AND NOBLE GUESTS

"In the name of our good Queen Elizabeth, we bid thee welcome to this hall which has been fitted for an evening of feasting, singing and merriment of you all!" These shouts echoed throughout the Great Hall of Chevy Chase Country Club in which the 16th annual Madrigal Dinner was held on Dec. 5, 6, and 7. After months of preparation, and countless hours of perfecting every detail, the madrigal singers, dressed in 16th century costumes, were a pleasure for both eye and ear. After the guests had been formally greeted with a song entitled "Ye Be Welcome," they were seated and amused by the jesters. The audience was then informed of the rules of etiquette by court jesters Rob Brown and Sheryl Junge. After this, the singers raised their voices in several toasts to the audience who became more of the cast rather than just spectators. While the guests were dining, the jesters did magic tricks as the trumpeters David Smith, Wade Mikosz, and Martin Arlt delighted all. While the begger women "asked politely" for donations for themselves and their children, they were actually collecting funds for the choral league. In the distance could be heard the faded voice of the court minstral Yvonne Bamberger serenading from table to table spreading the spirit of Christmas.

Afterwards, a concert from the singers helped the digestive process and cast a trance on the audience as their voices carried through the hall. Then the singers joined the guests in the hall to sing songs more familiar to the audience's ear, while the performers courtseyed to their honored company. "Our song is done, we must be gone, we stay no longer here. God bless you all both great and small and send you a joyous New Year." These words were sung as the singers left and bid farewell to their guests for yet another year.

With great enthusiasm, jester Rob Brown entertains the audience with his humor.

While waiting to sing the next song, Vikki Gorski, Rick Harris, and Chris Gedgaudas discuss the difficult song that is about to be sung.

To add to the pagentry and majesty of the night, trumpeters Wade Mikosz, Dave Smith, and Martin Arlt play the fanfares.

As the anticipation of the performance rises, court gymnast Colleen McGill puts on the finishing touches.

After proving that Wildcats have "Pride in Performance." the girls' Cross Country team presents the State Championship trophy to the school.

While playing a hard game, Mike Demski moves to score against an opponent while Dave Cuevas remains behind to protect the goal.

After a great match, Marilyn Egeland reflects back on the game.

Before a meet, members of the varsity gymnastic team psyche each other up.

With the fierceness of aWildcat player, Greg Gedgaudas plays to win against Loyola.

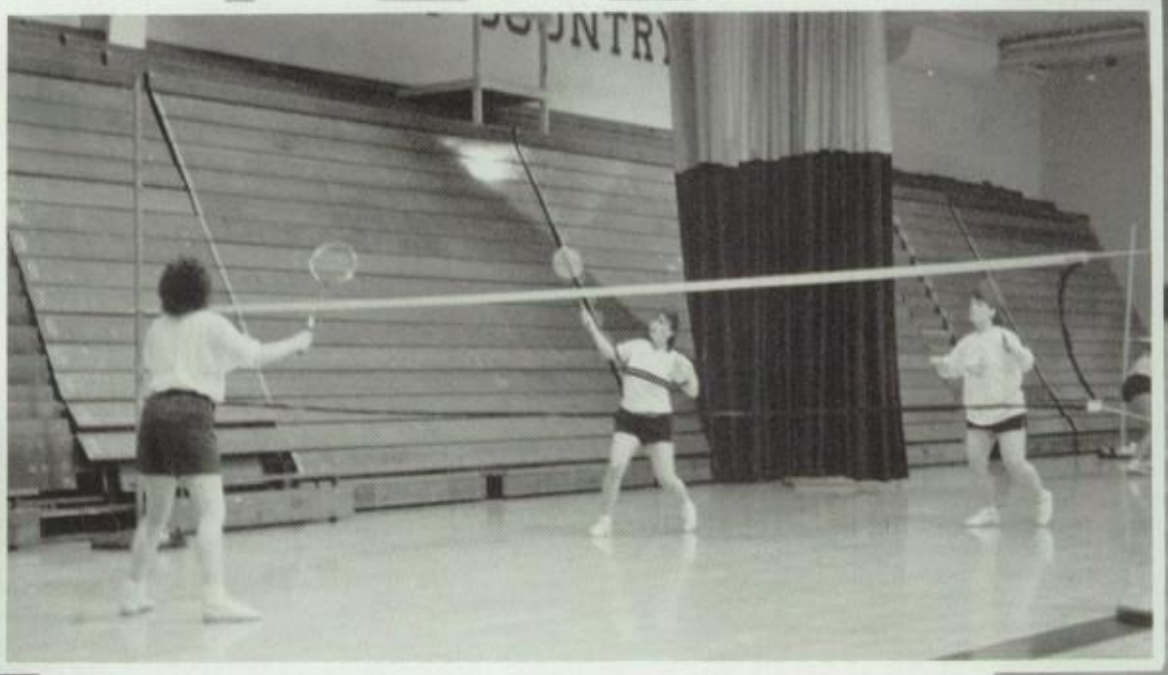
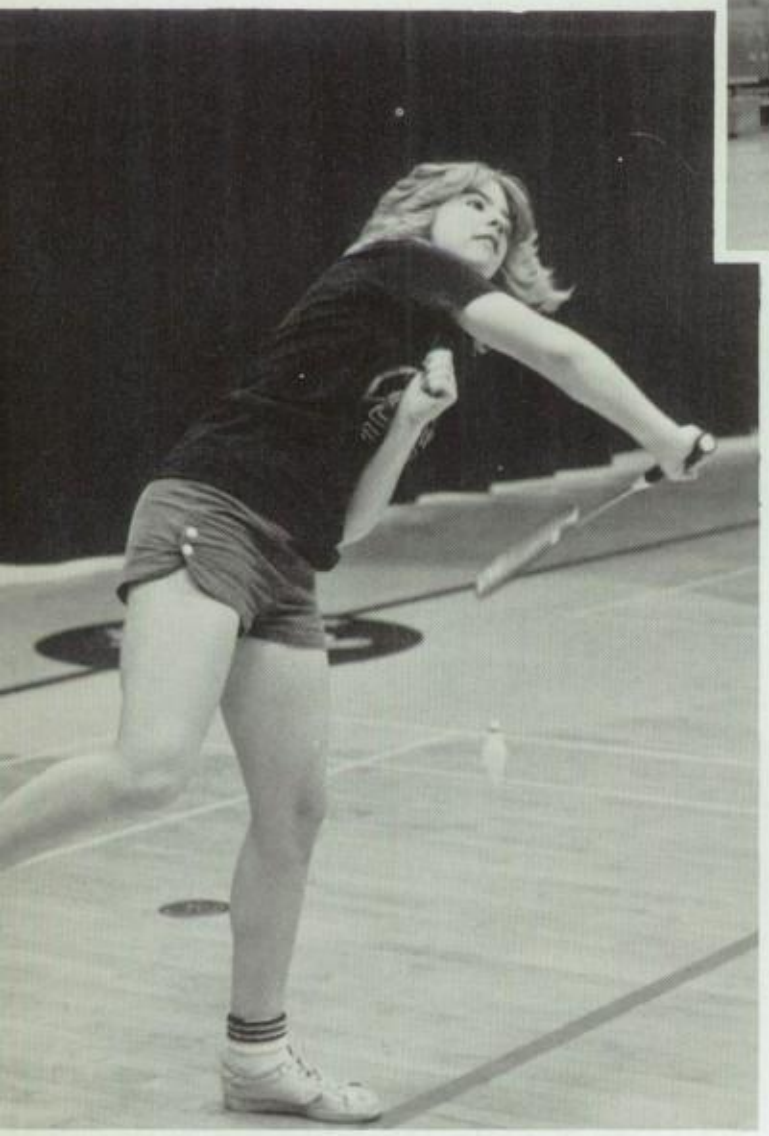
BADMINTON

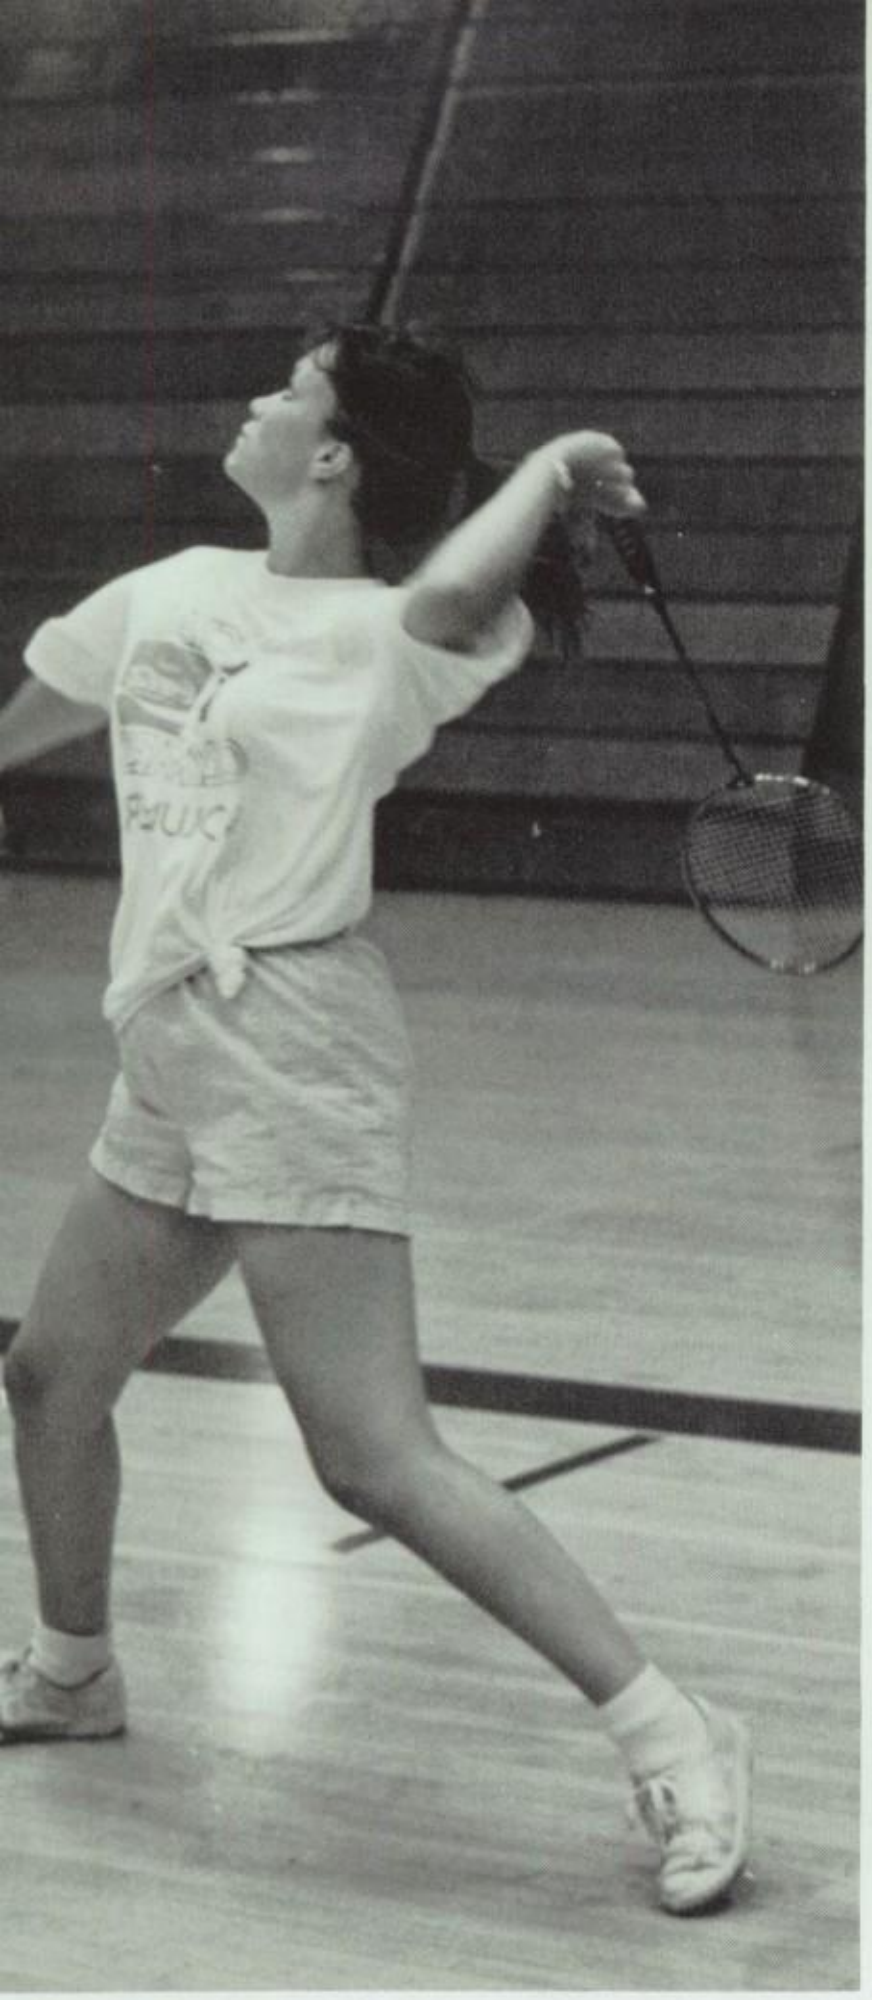




While reaching to return serve, Karen Hauge strains to keep her balance.

With eyes on the birdie, Sylvia Dobo and Diane Pietrzak prepare to return serve.

With the hope of improving their skills, Diane Schnaitmann, Ann O'Conor and Becky Tallman spend time practicing in the gym.



With her partner Kelly Weidner, Naomi Takahashi, an '86 exchange student from Japan, begins the game.

During a game, Ann O'Conor goes in to action.

BADMINTON GOES TO STATE

The girls' badminton team's main goal was to improve themselves as much as possible from the previous year. Several team members felt there were many improvements made on both the Varsity and Junior Varsity levels. Each of the players worked on team unity, team spirit, and individual skill.

All of the players worked on the basic shots such as overhead clear, dropshot, netshot, and smash. They also worked on forearm rotation, which developed muscles needed for the game that are normally not used. Less advanced players were taught the rules and were helped to develop their skills. Older players worked on skills and their footwork in the court. When team members were not practicing, they were giving support from the sidelines to their teammates.

Karin Kunstbeck and Julie Nuspl were two players who were able to participate in the State Conference. Kunstbeck and Nuspl played first doubles, which is the highest doubles possible in Varsity Badminton. The support given to Kunstbeck and Nuspl from their teammates, helped the two players win two games. Unfortunately the partners lost the next two games which dropped them from further competition.

After making the third out, Tim Dettmar ('86) jogs toward the dugout along with the rest of the team.

TRADITION CONTINUES

With the varsity team's biggest asset, the attitude and desire to work hard, they rounded off the season with six wins and 11 losses. "We worked hard on all the fundamentals and tried to play the game with a high degree of intelligence and skill. I also had lots of respect for my seniors who were great students and outstanding young men," stated coach Ron DeBolt.

Dennis Kehrer and Don Nelson were each selected by Life magazine as one their all-area players. Kehrer was also chosen as an all-conference player and M.V.P.

Mr. DeBlot remarked, "Don Nelson did an outstanding job as team leader, and Tom Stothoff was an outstanding pitcher, winning many key games."

Each season they started with the idea of winning their division and advancing to the finals of the regional tournament. Last spring the team's biggest win came in the first game of the regional tournament, beating Glenbrook North with a score of 4-1 to advance to the semi-finals. At the semi-finals they lost a great, hard fought game to the number one seeded team by only one run, with a final score of 4-3.

TEAM OF THE WEEK

The highlight of the Varsity Cat's basketball season came when the team won two thrilling matchups. The Cats won the first game over state ranked Fremd Vikings. Coming from a ten point deficit, the Cats slipped in two free throws from Steve Jemilo with only seven seconds left; a 54 - 53 victory. The Wildcats triumphed again by edging the Waukegan East Bulldogs by a score of 54 - 52. Because of these two heart stopping victories, they were named as the WYTZ - FM (Z-95) high school basketball team of the week, February 13.

The team's most valuable players were: Steve Jemilo — best rebounder and highest scorer, Dave Williams — best dribbler and sharp shooter, and Mike Miloch — strongest rebounder and inside shooter. These players contributed a lot to the team's success.

One of the biggest assets of the team was bringing up two sophomores to play on the Varsity level. They were Brett Pollard and Kevin Bremer. A few games after the season started Bremer was in the starting lineup.

"We didn't start out well," comments Kevin Bremer, "but by the end of the season we were a hard team to beat."

GIRLS BASKETBALL

GIRLS GO TO CONFERENCE

With team goals of winning Regionals and the North Division Conference, the girls basketball team started their season with only the best in mind. On the way towards the Conference Championship the team had some high and low points. Some of the high points along the way were winning the Riverside Brookfield tournament and also beating tough conference rival Buffalo Grove in overtime. Unfortunately, the team did not accomplish their goals. They lost their first game at regionals and tied for second at conference. To Coach Donna Dubblede winning was not everything. She tried to teach her team other skills such as self-management and improving their decision making process which would help in later life. Some of the teams individual standouts were Cari Rotchford, all conference and the team's most valuable player, Michelle Van Vranken all conference, Emily Stofcheck, most improved, and Sandy Bencko, best effort. When asked to summarize the team's performance Dubblede replied "I feel the team learned that it takes a lot of extra effort to be as good as they could have been, and enjoy basketball at the same time."

Under pressure from Maine East defenders, Kirsten Tripp strives to make a basket.

Team work is essential for success as shown by Michelle Stofcheck as she passes to Emily Stofcheck.

STRIKING TEAM WINS

Coming off a 1-6-1 season, the bowling team, coached by Amado Gad, came into the 86-87 season with more experience.

Returning varsity bowlers included high scorer Laurie Rosset, Pam Silberant, and Paula Guzzo. In the beginning of the season the team already posed as a threat for the conference championship.

They suffered home losses due to illnesses, but Rosset, managed to maintain her tremendous 137 average and pull the team to some victories. Coach Gad said, "We have improved all season long, and we could have done better if our top two bowlers had been 100% healthy."

The team also lost some close battles, including a meet against Prospect in which the difference was one strike from Prospects most accomplished bowler. Paula Guzzo came out of that match with a series high of 565 points.

"I think the team improved as a whole this year and the future looks bright," commented Beth Rosset.

BOYS' CROSS COUNTRY

About to enter the chute, Rick Timm finally has time to catch his breath.

Ahead of the pack, Dave Maseman runs to victory.

BOYS' CROSS COUNTRY UNDEFEATED

Striving to reach their goals, the boys' cross country team ended with an undefeated dual meet season. Recreating the pack became their main objective. Other goals included winning the North Division title and going down state. The boys accomplished winning the North Division title by annihilating all teams in their conference, but unfortunately they did not reach their goal of going down state. "However, the enthusiasm generated by the team showed that they had the potential to be champions," said assistant coach Tim Falconer. The team had some unfortunate health problems with some key runners that greatly effected the season, including Javier Salazar and Pete Endre.

With the philosophy that the team comes first, All-Conference runners Kurt Vogt and Rick Timm lead the team to a good season by winning regionals and qualifying for sectionals; unfortunately, they could not qualify for the state meet. When asked to summarize his team, head coach Jim Nagel replied, "They were a good group of individuals who did what they had to do to win regardless of the conditions."

Head coach Jim Nagel looks on with anticipation.

With eager expectations, the runners start another race.

At Pride Night activities, Maureen Bergquist, Amber Garland, Dawn Samuelson, Janette Germanier, Alice Doyle, and Laura Neubaum show their team spirit.

THE PACK IS BACK

The ability of the girls' cross country team showed in all performances of the winning season. The team retained the dream of capturing the State and North Division Conference championships. Despite illnesses among primary runners, such as Dana Miroballi and Alice Doyle, they earned the sectional and regional championship titles.

"They were a group of individuals who did what they had to do to win regardless of the conditions," said Coach Jim Nagel.

A serious automobile accident held back the showing of Amber Garland. Although doctors thought she would never run again, Garland recovered to join the team for the season.

Alice Doyle, the team captain, wrapped up her final year by being an all state and all conference winner. She received fifth in state competition. Miroballi accomplished a feat never reached before by the team. She attained the honor of winning the state championship for three consecutive years, as well as being an all conference, regional, and sectional champion. "They were each willing to give themselves so the team could succeed," Coach Nagel added.

The Hersey team, trailing in third place behind Schaumburg's second place at state, provided enough competition throughout the season to motivate the girls to work harder as a team.

The coaches stressed team running and that everyone won and lost as a team. "The idea of team running really paid off, so that 17 people won state instead of seven," commented the new assistant coach Tim Falconer.

"I really think we did it all together this season. It all paid off in the end. Winning state is one of the best feelings in the world to me," concluded Holly Naypaver.

Always supporting his teammates, Varsity captain Joe Gagliardi never lets his concentration wander from the game.

LITTLE MISTAKES HURT

Even though our team did not do an outstanding job, I still felt that I had one of my best seasons ever as a high school football player," commented varsity football player, Rick Weder.

Over the summer, the team started out with high expectations for the season. They practiced many vigorous hours up until the last week before school started. They had triple practice sessions for six and a half hours.

The team joined forces for a common cause — to win. There were a lot of challenging games the Cats struggled to win. Victories were not very common, but the fans always cheered them on to the end.

"If the little mistakes could have been avoided, many more games would have been won," stated Bob Wolf, varsity captain.

Wolf also commented, "It was kind of disappointing that our season ended up 2-7, but there is a lot of hope for next year's team."

No matter what happened, the wildcat fans always supported the players by giving the football team self-confidence in themselves, knowing that the team lived up to their motto - Hang Tough, Hang Together.

GOLF TEAM RIGHT ON COURSE

Golf as a sport or as a leisure activity requires more practice and concentration than perhaps any other sport offered at Wheeling. Anyone who has ever attempted the game of golf knows it's not as easy as it looks. At first glance, a swing might just be that, an action of hitting a ball with a stick, but in all actuality it takes concentration, skill and a tremendous amount of balance to swing the club and set the ball into flight.

The golf teams, both boys and girls, know this well as anybody. Although the girls and boys had a difficult season, the skill displayed at their meets was of good quality and showed the results of much practice and hard work.

Boys' Coach Jack Lilgiberg has high hopes for next years team because of the talent of this years performances that are returning next season. With a season record of 2-12, the coach believes that the experience will be put to good use next spring.

The girls' team, coached by Don Tantillo, had a better year than in their past. The season record being 3-10, the girls did a great job for just their third year as a team.

Another obstacle both teams had to overcome was the recent flooding of Chevy Chase. It is considered their home but for three weeks, they were homeless and left out in the cold. As Coach Lilgiberg said, "Although it set us back and took away valuable time for practice, we overcame it and played the best we could." Who could ask for anything more.

Team Glory

Head coach, Dave Watters, and his team had a "rep" to keep up. They started the season off with a definite set of high expectations which included winning both regionals and conference along with finishing in the top five out of the state. Being selected by the National High School Gymnast Coaches Association as "All American," for the seventh time out of the last ten years, made it easy for the team to turn most of their goals into reality.

They were victorious in winning regionals as well as capturing the North Division title. Their goal for winning conference was spoiled by Conant by a mere fifth of a point. They ended the season by finishing eighth overall in the state competition.

Each gymnast improved as the season progressed. Watters was proud the way his team "took up the slack" for the many injured gymnasts of the season. Scoring 148.7 points proved their success. The score established them as one of the most outstanding teams in Wheeling's history.

Watters added, "We had several outstanding gymnasts on every event, not just a few superstars." Contributing to the success was Marshall Hong who achieved the title of Regional All Around Champion. Mike Roland and Jim Jankovic excelled on the high bar. Roland went on to win the conference for his high bar performance.

NEW GIRLS GYMNASTICS TEAM

The girls gymnastics team did an excellent job, even though their record of 2-7 did not show the tough work that the girls put into it. The goals that were set for this season were to improve skill level and develop a positive, hard working attitude. The team was one of the hardest working teams in the area. The practices were three or more hours a day. The gymnasts were willing to put in the time it took to improve their skills, and as a result, their basic skills improved a great deal.

The team improved a great deal in their strengths and basic tumbling skills, but still worked on a higher level of skills. Colleen McGill was the first Wildcat gymnast to throw a double full twist in a meet. Three other team members worked on full twists which were similiar and also very difficult.

Six of the seniors were the basis for the team's success. Having a new head coach positively affected their attitudes. The seniors helped the team's attitude and in turn the team's unity and spirit was a high point. Each of the girls pushed themselves and each other to their limit.

Coach Ameel stated, "What the mind can dream and conceive, the body can achieve."

PROGRESSIVE SEASON

After a summer of tough practices, each member of the soccer team was ready to enter the season with their heads held high, and that's exactly what they continued to do throughout the entire season. Win or lose, the boys displayed outstanding effort at every game. When things got tough, they pushed themselves to the limit.

An overall record of 4:15:2 may not sound impressive, but the amount of effort and aggression was exceptional. Many of the team's defeats were by a mere goal. Nevertheless, the bleachers didn't cease to fill with fans eagerly anticipating a good show of competitiveness on the field.

The teams were led by a new set of coaches. Rich Blackstone was added to assist Pete Fischbach on the varsity level. The J.V. team was coached by Tom Martindale, while Darren Llewellyn took over the frosh team.

All teams progressed with each game by learning new skills and working together more as a team. The varsity team really showed everyone what they were made of when they came back from a 4:1 deficit with only 15 minutes left in the game to tie highly rated Loyola. That game, which was also homecoming, turned out to be a turning point for the varsity team. From then on, their pride, confidence and achievement grew.

Leading players like Mike Bott and Mark Hirth on defense, and Tuan Nguyen, Frank Koenig, and Peter Kendler on offense, helped achieve the success throughout the season. All conference titles were earned by Bott as well as Kendler who also was the top goal scorer of the season.

The varsity team was composed of many skilled underclassmen as as well as some outstanding upperclassmen. The experience earned by the sophomores on the varsity level, along with the great skill on the sophomore team, assured many great games. As always, each soccer game brought an exciting display of sportsmanship and aggression.

CATS ON THE PROWL

The girls' varsity Cats ended their season with a team record of 7-15. Even though they had a few unexperienced players in starting positions, they made up for it with dedication and hard practices. Coach Ritchie said that the team's goal was for everyone to have a batting average of .500. Although they didn't accomplish their goal, the hard work that the team put in was rewarding enough. Coach Ritchie commented that this was the year to gain the experience needed to excel. Two players that showed outstanding ability and experience were Holly Anderson ('86) and Gail Kummerow ('86), both will be missed very much during the next season. Those who also showed great ability in leading the team were Amy Rathe, Michelle VaVranken, Cheryl Ferguson, and Amy Anderson.

SWIMMERS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Many more team members improved in quality. This is the greatest group of male swimmers that we have ever had as a complete unit,'' commented Coach Tom Schwab.

The team's main purpose was to learn to swim faster and better. At practice, everybody tried to improve their times so they could have a successful team and reach their goals.

Their main goal was to project team unity. This was achieved by the team's participation in more ''togetherness'' activities.

Another goal was to increase teaching during the season. This helped the team improve their times.

The practices really reflected the progress of the team. They helped them improve their skills.

The team had their toughest competition against Fremd, which was the best team in the conference. The varsity cats ended the season 0-7, while the sophomore team had a record of 4-6.

Leadership was shown mainly through Erick Zawojewski, Pat Rafferty, and Duane Bronson.

The 29 member team made this the second largest swim team in District 214.

The team's philosophy was ''stick together and work towards the goal of improving their times''.

SWIMMERS MAKE WAVES

An enthusiastic splash started off the swimming season. Determination, hard work, and dedication had been the team's strategy. All of this work certainly paid off for the girls' swim team.

Their record was 6-4, which may not sound very impressive, but a lot of records were broken. The Wildcat swim team won all three of their invites, which was never done before. The five Varsity members who went to state were Jill Lanendorf, Patsy Mellenthin, Val Sabel, Kristen Stout, and Kristen Wallace (most improved); the team came in 10th place over all.

Stout was voted MVP for many reasons. First, she won first place in the back-to-back events of the 100 yard fly and the 100 yard free, having only ten minutes of rest in between the two events. Coach Mike Lilleeng said, "It was amazing that she came in first place in both events having only a short time to rest between them. It was like running the half mile at top speed." Stout also never lost an individual event the entire season. She came in first place at conference and sectional in the same two back-to-back events as she did at state.

Other outstanding swimmers were Jennifer Rakstad, Colleen Riechmutch, Kathy Hager, and Debbie Zyrek, Coach Lilleeng concluded, "It was a great season, but wait 'til next year!"

DEDICATION PAYS OFF FOR TEAM

Thanks to dedication, competitiveness, and the new video taped practices, the tennis team had an improved season over previous years. With 22 players competing for 11 positions, competition was fierce. The players were more involved with running, stretching, and exercising, which left the team more prepared for a better effort on the court.

The leading members of the team, with a second place win in doubles at the Lake Forest Invitational and third place at the Conference Final Tournament, were Tri-Captain Todd Porter and his partner, Scott Angarola. Other integral players were Alex Goldin and Subie Maitra, both with winning seasons in singles matches. Several other players improved during the season, which was the best overall, the team breaking even with a 6-6 record in regular season competition.

Along with dedication, another reason for the team's improvement over previous years was the introduction of video taping used by the team members during practice and at matches. The players were able to take the videos home and analyze their playing style.

Despite the fact that the team had an equal number of wins and losses this season, Coach Jim Christopher stated that the team enjoyed greater successes in winning sets and improving their overall competitiveness at the game.

TEAM IMPROVES

The girls Varsity Tennis team completed a successful fall season. They had an overall record of 5 wins and 9 losses. Unfortunately, they missed their team goal of a .500 season by only a couple of strokes. However, this season did mark the third successive season in which the girls had increased their number of wins over the previous year.

The Wildcats were led by co-captains, Amy Cericola and Kelly Cairo. Cericola was named most valuable player while Sachiko Ikeda, Matsue Tada, and Pam Demma all finished with ten or more victories.

Coach Jim Christopher commented, "Our varsity team will be losing seven tremendous seniors this fall. I will be looking forward to Marilyn Egeland, Pam Demma, and Rachel Gonzalez to continue the Wildcats upward movement next year."

INTENSITY RUNNING WILD

The Boys' Track and Field team finished the season with a 16-1 on the duel meet Varsity level and with 10-6 at the Frosh-Soph level. The team showed a high level of improvement by working hard and won ten trophies, 18 Varsity letters, 14 Frosh-Soph letters, and 13 members made the 100 point club.

The dedication the team had was in over-abundance. All members worked extremely hard, and stuck it out to the finish.

"We've got the best coaches in the state," said member Marc Burns ('86). This statement was proven true after the track team won the 22nd Annual Wildcat Relays, Fenton Invitational, M.S.L. Invitational, Falcon Relays, Titan Relays, and the Sectional meet. At all of these meets the boy's track team won first place. The reason the team had such a good season was, according to Rick Timm," We had super coaches."

GIRLS' TRACK TRIUMPHS

The girls' track team ended the season in high fashion. They finished second in the state in the State Meet held in Charleston, and brought pride to the Wheeling name as they have so often before. With extraordinary individuals and their ability to become one unit, the team became one of the best in the state.

To arrive at this standard of excellence took dedication and hard work, support and driving each other. The team warmed up by running a mile followed by a twenty minute stretching session. A prescribed workout kept each of them in top physical condition. All the practice and commitment paid off when it came time to perform. As a team the Wildcats became the champions of several invitationals including, Glenbard West, M.S.L., and our own Wildcat Relays. Not withstanding, the team went undefeated in the indoor and outdoor dual meet season.

The team triumphed in other large meets consisting of the Mid Suburban League title, Illinois High School Association Sectionals, and were runner ups in the state meet.

Individual accomplishments included Dana Miroballi state champion in the 3200 meter run and second in the 1600 meter run. Alice Doyle took second in the 800 meter run. Teresa Wilkens placed fourth in the long jump. Nancy Goldman took sixth in the 100 meter dash, and Dawn Samuelson eighth in the 400 meter dash.

The girls' volleyball team had an overall good effort. They completed the season by achieving the title of Regional Champions. "The team met all goals except winning sectionals; they played consistent and competitive volleyball," commented Coach Denise VanHuele.

A few players who contributed to the team's success were Cari Rotchford - Most Valued Player, Stacy Rockenbach - Most Improved Player and Ruth Olszewski - Best Effort. The all conference team also consisted of three Wildcats Cari Rotchford, Ruth Olszewski and Kirsten Tripp. Coach VanHuele's philosophy she taught the team was to "Play hard, practice hard and compete hard." CATS TAKE CHARGE

The 86'-87' wrestling Cats contended their way through a rugged season. The Cats placed fifth in Conference as a team, however Kurt Vogt and Neil Kholberg were champions in their weight divisions. Head coach Neil Weiner's wrestlers were led by captains Vogt and Kholberg. Also returning to the varsity squad were Jose Dejesus, Vic Grandt, Craig Chapa, and Eric Bowman. These team members combined their experience with the vitality of the new members to put forth a great team effort.

Individual successes were accomplished through much hard work and determination. Neil Kholberg led the team with an impressive 31-1 record that placed him among the state's top wrestlers. Kurt Vogt, another skilled wrestler finished his season with a 26-4-2 record. Other outstanding performances were exhibited by team members Vic Grandt, Jose DeJesus, Kevin Vogt, Erik Bowman, and Kurt Schulze.

During the season the wrestlers were handicapped by sickness and injury. This hurt the team, but at the same time it gave the younger wrestlers a chance to gain more experience for their years to come.

The junior varsity levels improved and strengthened greatly throughout the season. The teams showed dominance and talent.

The freshman team had a tremendous season with an outstanding record of 18-0. This team gained much experience as a result of their determination and their ability to work as a team and as individuals.

WET BUT WILLING

The "Wildcat" Marching Band got off to a slow start this year. The heavy rains of this fall caused the band to cancel 14 outdoor music rehearsals. Determined to keep up the winning tradition, the band had indoor rehearsals and outdoor practices when they could. Their hard work and extra effort paid off. Despite the "Flood of '86", the band placed 10th at the Tropicana Music Bowl held at Soldier Field, 4th at the Yamaha Band Day held at Comiskey Park, and they received 1st place ratings at the annual Sycamore Pumpkin Festival Parade.

The director of bands, Mr. Kevin Kastens, was disappointed that the band could not achieve the heights it had in past years. He hopes for clear skies and good weather for next year's season, for which they have scheduled a trip to Phoenix, Arizona.

Under the leadership of drum majors Ed Minnema and Tina Krempels, the band truly lived up to its motto-"Not as good as, but better than."

MUSICIANS EXPERIENCE VARIETY

Band is a group effort for the success of all,'' said Kevin Kastens, band director. In addition to the marching band, there were four other performing bands: jazz band, lab band, wind symphony, and symphony band.

Jazz band consisted of 20 members who practice from 7:15 to 8 A.M. every morning. Their repertoire included Fallen Angle, Little Minor Booze, and My Romance. Performing at area grade schools and WHS, the group also gave two formal concerts during the school year. Lab band also performed jazz style music. This group contains 23 members. Generally students join Lab Band because they need more experience before going on to Jazz Band.

Wind Symphony was made up of 55 members, making it one of the largest instrumental groups at WHS. Fourth hour practice prepared the members for four formal concerts during the year. Their performance included pieces such as Hindemith, Carmina and Burana.

Symphony Band contained about 25 members who practiced during sixth hour. This year they played at New Trier and Mundelein along with other neighboring schools.

The Wheeling Instrumental League, the parent organization for band students, helped organize the many fund raisers that kept the groups in the green.

Twice during the year the group sold grapefruits and oranges. During the holidays they sold bells and tree oranments. This year a pizza sale was also included in fund raising efforts.

UNITY

The cheerleaders and Pom Cats started off a spirited year with endless enthusiasm and unity. In addition to the early morning summer practices, both groups spent a part of their summer attending various camps; where they competed and acquired new skills. During this time, they gained the unity and spirit that was so abundant throughout the year.

The hallways never failed to provide information on the latest game with the creative posters made by the two groups. M and M's and other candies were added to many students diets as the cheerleaders attempted fund raising. The Pom Cats sold suntan products and chocolate santas. The fund raising not only pleased the customers but provided the groups with new uniforms as well as making camp possible.

Lack of spirit was definitely not a problem. The traditional crowd support was excellent, especially during homecoming when all the fall cheerleading squads united to form their biggest mount ever. At half time, the Pom Cats graced the field with an outstanding performance. The homecoming pep assembly was enhanced by a dance routine performed by the varsity cheerleaders.

The pep assemblies throughout the year increased school spirit. It was apparent at any football, soccer, wrestling, or basketball games. The hearty yells, the precision routines, and the rowdy crowds made the events more enjoyable as the spirit and crowd support unified the school.

CHOIRS TAKE ON FLORIDA

The 1986-87 choir had a very busy year, from the four yearly concerts in the fall, winter, spring, and one at the end of the year, to the 16th annual Madrigal Dinner and the New Dawns winter concert. It was a very successful year; all the fundraisers by the different choirs were major money makers to help the Choral League pay for the Madrigal/New Dawn trip to Disney World in Florida over spring break.

New Dawns, directed by Phil Stutz, sang at Sea World and Lake Bueno Vista in Disney World Village, while the Madrigals, directed by Frank Dobler, sang at United Kingdom in Epcot Center and at Sea World. Although both groups traveled together, they did not perform together which gave time for the other group to give them support.

Both groups were in Florida for a total of six days over spring break. "We had a fun time and it was a great learning experience for all of us," stated Vikki Gorski.

After a tournament Henry Son, Kevin Doolan, and Bill Conrad go over critiques with Marc Tiritilli ('83).

While at a meet, Risa Gorelick, Dan Collins, and Mark Masaracchia read over some new material.

SPEAKERS REACH HIGH GOALS

Individual Events Speech Team, (I.E.) had once again grown and improved. The team won almost twice as many trophies as last year's team and most of the winners were senior members. There was also a meet entitled SCOTIE where all first place winners in Illinois went to compete at the end of the season. Sylvia Dobo and Alisa Gad attended SCOTIE in Oritorical Declamation (O.D.) and Prose, respectively; all senior members were invited to attend and observe. Some senior members were student judges. Risa Gorelick, student judge stated, "It was a lot of fun. I saw so many good performances. It was a nice way to end my fourth year on the team."

For the first time, the I.E. team went to Sectionals. Dobo performed in O.D., Mark Masaracchia performed in Humorous Interp., and Susan Skeppstrom/Masaracchia performed in Humorous Duet Acting. Dobo placed fourth.

The first annual Wheeling Wildcat Invitational was held on January 10, 1987, with the team placing 6th overall. Mrs. Judy Davis, head coach, was very excited about the invitational. "It ran very smoothly, and Wheeling High School received a lot of good comments from the participants of our tournament. I was very proud of our team."

The debate team had very high standards set this season after the 1985-86 team of Malik Diab ('86) and Kevin Doolin won both the ISTA and IHSA at the state meets. "This was a great honor itself, since only the Girls' Cross Country team had ever had such a winning season." commented Don Tantillo, head coach.

The debate team accomplished a feat never achieved before — a Novice State Championship at the ISTA state tournament. Not only did the debaters take first place in the novice division of the tournament, but they also took second and third place. Winners were the team of Richard Malis and Sunil Mansukhani who were paired against Chris Morris and Henry Son. Since there was no point in having two teams from the same school debate against each other, the teams came in first and second place. George Dobo and Rishi Ganti came in third place.

On the varsity level, Doolan and Debbie Eng were the number one seed in their division with a 9-1 record after five preliminary rounds. In their first elimination round they lost to Elk Grove and then Hersey went on to win the varsity division. Since the IHSA state series provided the only varsity competition, the team of Doolan/Eng and Dan Kloud/Mike Magiera went on to represent the team at Sectionals.

DRAMA

CHANGES HELP W.T.C.

This year, many changes within the drama club took place. It started with a new name, The Wheeling Theater Company, giving the club a more serious and professional sound. Other changes included the buying of sweat shirts from the profit of fund raisers, including the drama group, the Thesbians, as an option for those who belong to WTC next year.

In the '85-'86 season, "Wait Until Dark", a suspenseful drama included the talents of Pam Foote, Allen Fink ('86), Rob Brown, Andy Krupp ('86), and Lynn Koppel.

The musical, "Grease", was a rousing success, with Bob Lytle, ('86) and Kathy Kovanda in the lead roles.

And for the first time, the variety show was performed during lunch periods, with free admittance for students and teachers.

The '86-'87 season started off with "The Desk Set", a comedy about computers disrupting the peacefulness of an office. It featured Shelly Margolius, Amber McLennan, Sylvia Dobo, Rob Brown, Bill Quinn, Wendey Kozikov, Maggie Turner, Dan Collins, Alissa Soifer, Patty Fiuza, Nathan Phillips, Mark Masaracchia, Marc Dresner and Irene Dubinski.

"Born Yesterday", another comedy, was performed next. Karen Kruger, Anthony Rubono, Barb Krug, Sandra Fielding, Russ Lynn, and Scott Barnett all made their debuts in this play. Returning were Rob Brown, Rick Harris, Mark Masirachia, Scott Nelles, and Patty Fiuza.

The last play was a court room drama called "You The Jury". It featured the talents of Stephanie Hayes, Mike Dobler, Scott Nelles, Brian May, Laura Sprehel, Sandy Fielding, Michelle Pruzan, Rick Geate, Rick Harris, and Georga Minor.

And this year the musical "South Pacific", a comedy, combined the talents of many students involved in drama.

In "Grease", Mike Reinagle and Rob Brown are "T-Birds".

As she sneaks down the steps, Lynn Koppel looks for a good hiding place for the valuable doll in "Wait Until Dark."

"Pink Laides", Michele Sunde, Yvonne Bamberger, Suzy Oslovich ('86), and Kelly Bradford sing and dance their way through "Grease".

Just before going on stage, Cindy Harney ('86), makes a last minute adjustment on Kathy Kovanda's shirt.

In the drama, "Wait Until Dark", Andy Krupp ('86), threatens Pam Foote into giving him the hidden doll.

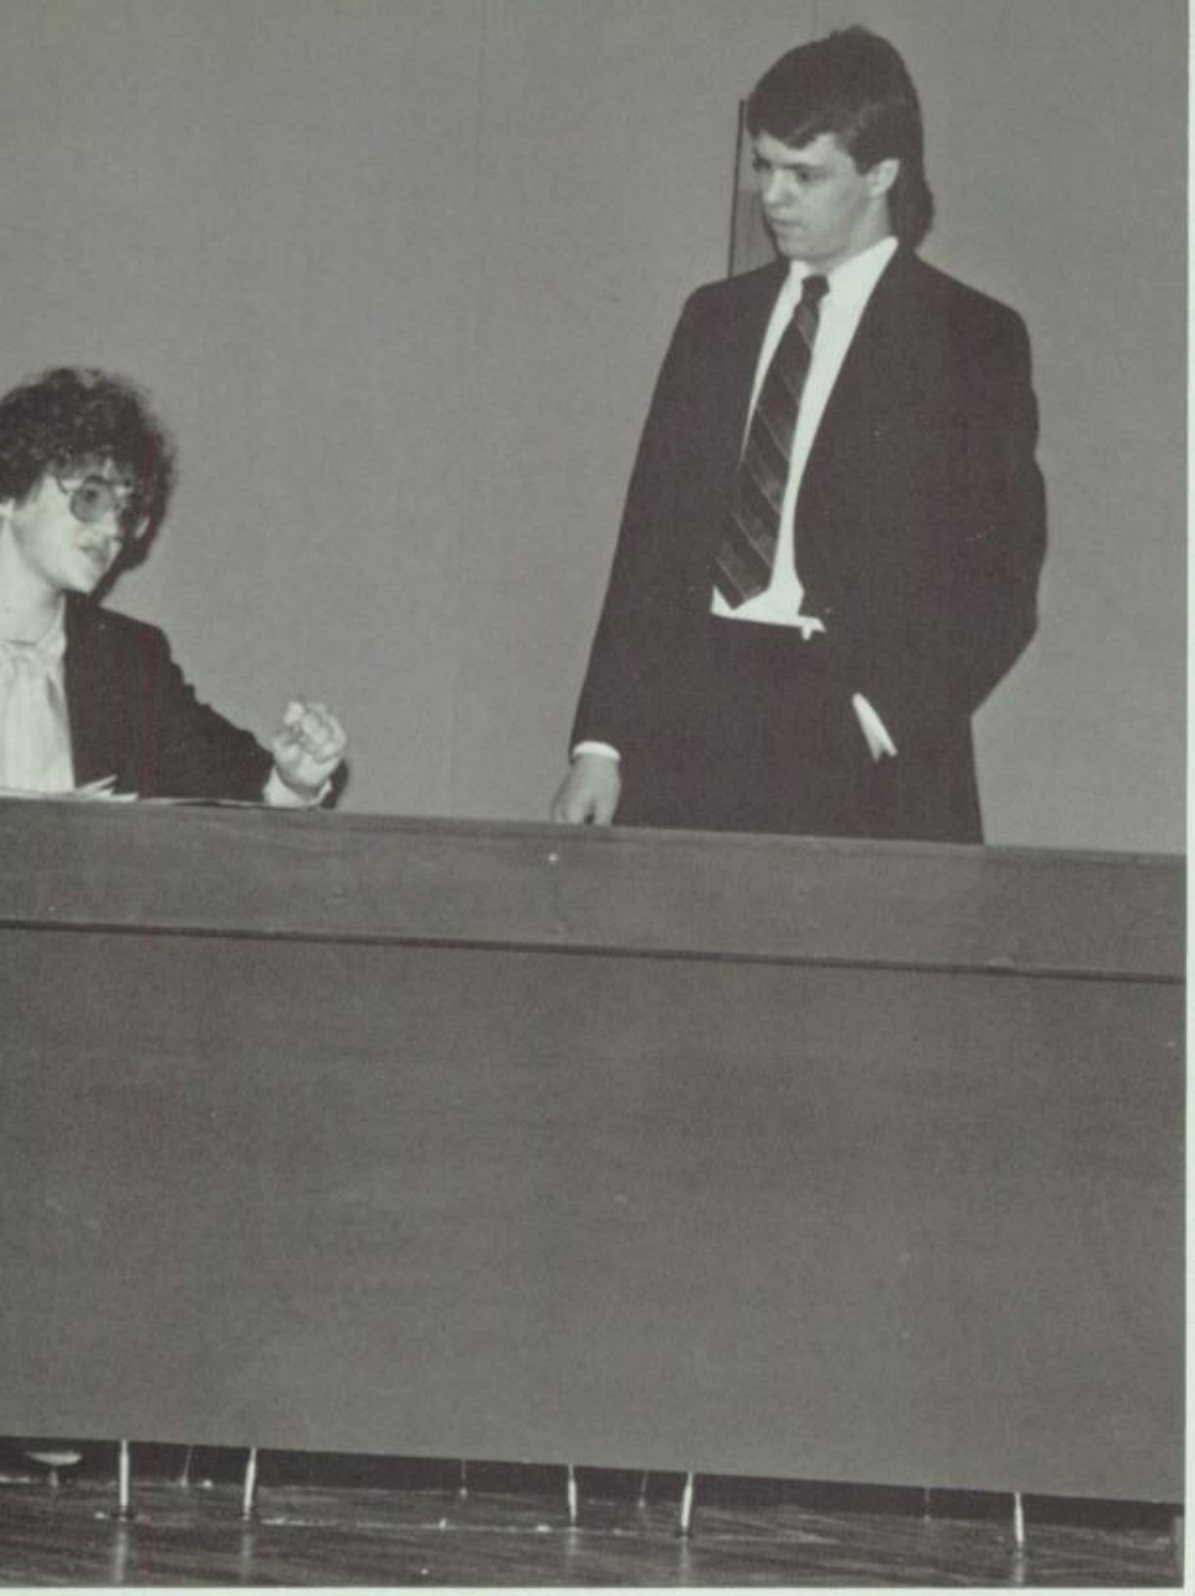
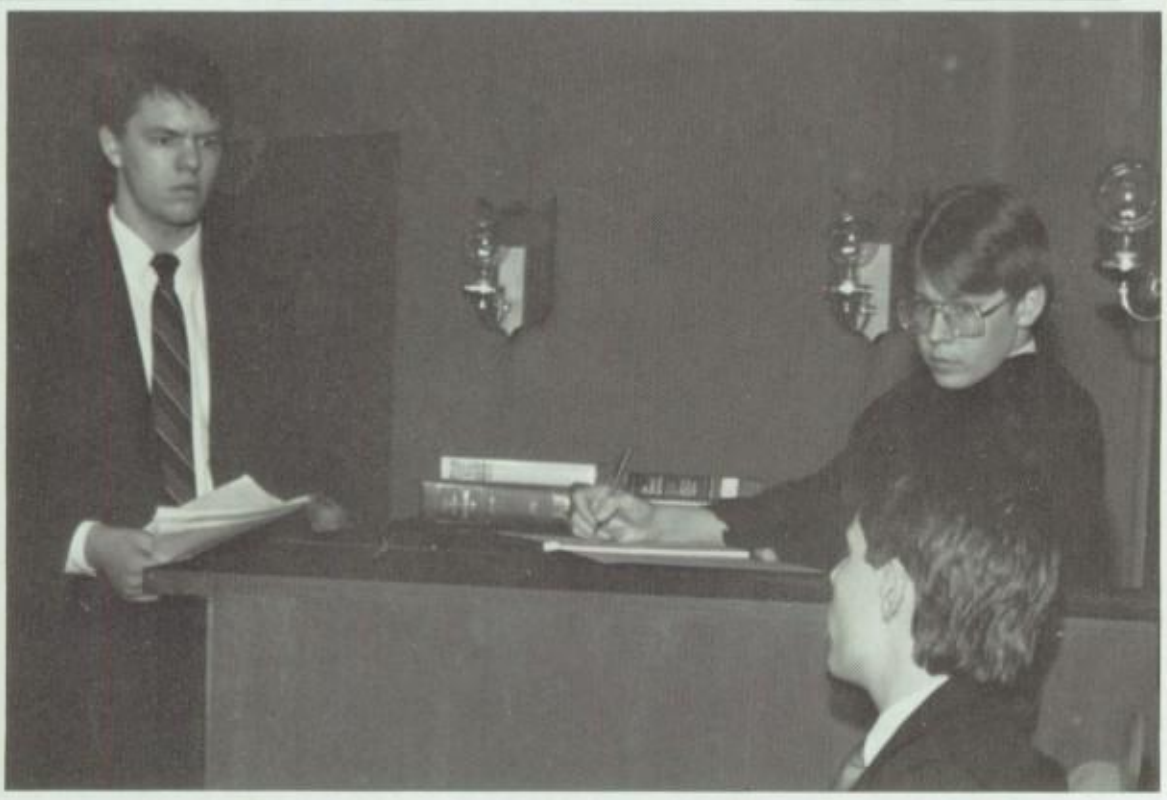
In "You The Jury", Mike Dobler, lawyer to the prosecution, calls for the attention of Rick Harris and Georgia Minor.

Before the questioning begins, prosecution lawyer Mike Dobler makes his opening statement as defense lawyer Stephanie Hayes takes notes.

Lights and sound are a necessary part of any play. Lighting engineers Ian Kuhn and Brian May watch the actors for the exact time of the cue.





On the witness stand, Scott Nelles submits to questioning by prosecution lawyer Mike Dobler as judge Dan Collins presides on the bench.

Bible in hand, Rick Harris swears in Michelle Pruzan before she takes the stand.

DEDICATION IN DRAMA

What does it take to work or be in a play? Certainly talent has a lot to do with it, but perhaps ambition and dedication are more important. Being in a play was no easy job, according to Mark Masaracchia, "It takes up a lot of your time. You're there everyday until nine or ten at night, and sometimes you have to give up Saturdays, too".

Was it worth all the time and work? A typical play took five weeks of preparation. The first week the actors spent learning their movements and getting familiar with the script. The second week, the first act was memorized, and props, costumes, and other things that were needed were sought after. Third week, the second act was memorized, and the set went up. One the fourth week, the technical aspects started to come together, and the whole play was committed to the actor's memory. Time was spent polishing the sound and light cues, and the performers' acting. Up to this point, most of the people involved had given up football games, dances, going out with friends, or had to cram for tests and stay up late doing homework.

The last week, every one felt the excitement of the coming performance. All costumes, props, light and sound cues, acting and all other aspects of the play had one goal set for them - perfection. In this week, everything was done on an opening-night-standard.

And then - all the hard work is paid off. Performance!

"I would say it's worth it," commented Ron Mace, the director.

"The curtain call is my favorite," said Heather Smith, "it lets the audience show how much they liked the play."

Perhaps Smith summed it up the best, "I wouldn't trade the friends I made or the experiences I had for anything. It was hard work, but 99% was pure fun!"

LAIR/ SPOKESMAN

STAFFS GAIN EXPERIENCE

As one of many wildcat traditions, students look forward to the twelve publications of Spokesman, the official newspaper, and Lair, the yearbook.

Both of the staffs experienced some difficulties as the year started.

Spokesman staff members engaged in battle with "printer problems" since the 1985-86 school year.

"We have had many major changes in the printing company. First, Son's Enterprises was sold, changing the company management. Then the new equipment and faulty headline schedules caused havoc. Now the company, Klein Enterprises has once again changed management," said Yvoone Farrow, Spokesman Graphics Editor.

The Lair staff also experienced some change. Cheryle Sebenik took over Laurie Rossi's position of adviser while Rossi took a sebatical in China.

"At first it was hard getting used to the different ways Rossi and Sebenik taught," said Mike Perrone, Lair Clubs Editor. Yet, the staff managed to produce a fine book in spite of difficulties in organization.

Despite problems, for the eighth consecutive year, the Spokesman received the Five Star All American award given by the National Scholastic Press Association.

PRIDE CONTINUES

The Naval Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps program has been based at Wheeling High School since 1969. The district-wide program which encompasses such schools as Rolling Meadows, Buffalo Grove, Hersey, Prospect, and Elk Grove. The program has had a revival of interest throughout the district in the last two years after going through a slight decline in interest a few years ago.

In the program. cadets learn naval history, geography, navigation, oceanography, leadership, meteorology, and global awareness. There were many opportunities offered to cadets in the program. There were also several types of scholarships which were available to qualified applicants. The cadets took field trips to museums, orientation flights on Navy aircraft, and many more activities. Mark Weger said, "The program is really excellent; the opportunities are endless both within the unit and outside."

The program participated within the community and the schools by performing as color guards and ushers at official functions. But the program also has a lighter side, as Chris Cangelosi, a junior at Rolling Meadows High School said, "We're like family in the unit; you're not just out there for yourself. You work with and for the other people in the unit."

This past winter the unit took a trip to Orlando, Florida. The trip was not only a chance to spend a week with others in the unit but also a learning experience; it was a chance to visit an actual Navy base and see how the base is run. The trip was not only fun, but it was also educational for the older cadets as well as the new cadets.

Even as the unit was at one of its highest points, it continued to grow. Weger concluded, "With all of the opportunities and recreational activities the program has to offer, N.J.R.O.T.C. should be around for quite a while."

Under the watchful eye of Ltjg. Mark Weger, N.J.R.O.T.C. students march in precision.

During practice, the N.J.R.O.T.C. cadets proudly display their form.

ORCHESIS

STEP ABOVE THE REST

Based on an evaluation of last year's performance, several changes were incorporated into the Orchesis curriculum for this year. For example, every member was required to choreograph at least one dance, adding more variety to the group's productions. Alternates were also done away with.

Changes were also made in the preparations for the winter and spring shows. Try-outs for the spring show "Vision Escape" were held earlier than in previous years, allowing more time to prepare for the performance. Practices for the winter show also began earlier, being scheduled two days a week for a longer amount of time instead of the former three days a week to allow time for other things in the dancers' lives. Both of these changes helped in the creation of two successful shows.

Besides the winter and spring shows, the group also made appearances during half time at a basketball game and at the district dance show, along with a performance at Sacred Heart accompained by the Jazz Band.

According to Ms. Barbara Braude, Orchesis director, the main goals of Orchesis are improving dancing skills, teaching self-respect and responsibility, and learning to work with others. Summing up this year, Ms. Braude said, "They're one of the better groups I've taught in this school, and it's been very enjoyable working with all of them."

TEAM TRIUMPH AT ALL-STATE

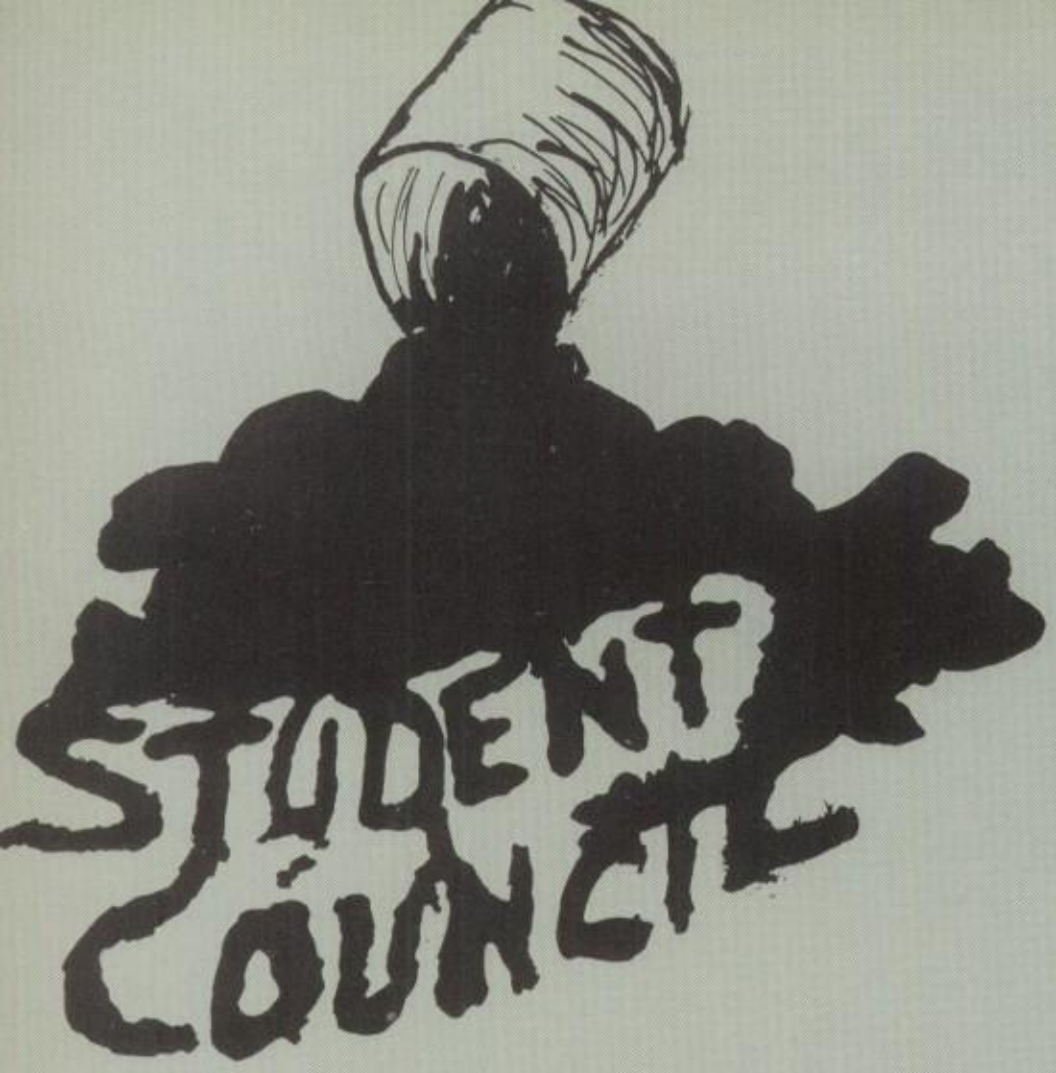
The main reason the orchestra exists is not just because of certian individual achievements. It's the team effort the kids put into it," commented assistant band director Andrew Brandenburg. Orchestra members practiced outside of rehearsal to improve upon the skills they had learned in the classroom. Mr. James Black, head orchestra director, prevailed to motivate them to work well as a group. They excelled in performance from where they started and worked to fulfill Mr. Black's expectations of them.

In the month of October many people auditioned to compete in the District Seven Musical Festival for the Illinois Music Education Association. Eight people attended the festival. "It was a payoff from all of the practicing we did," said Jason Payne. Of the eight people that attended, the following members qualified for the All-State Orchestra Festival: Amy Pielin, John Myung, Jeff Black, Jodi Winicour, Bari Berman, and Heidi Keippel.

The Symphony Orchestra and Strolling Strings participated in the annual "Orchestra Goes Pops" concert held at the Chevy Chase Country Club in October. They played popular music, including a few Broadway tunes. They sold tickets to raise money for the trip to Europe in the summer, where they will spend 17 days in Germany, Switzerland, and Austria.

Among other fundraising activities were the grapefruit and orange sale, the Arts and Crafts Show, and the Christmas ornament sale.

To prepare for upcoming concerts, April Callas and Carolyn Schaefer review their music.



GETTING IN TO THE SPIRIT

We are not a fundraising organization," stated Ann O'Connor. The money student council accumulated helped to send members to district, state, and national student council workshops. Sponsoring activities to benefit students and promote school spirit was the student council's purpose.

The council sponsored all Homecoming activities along with all dances and a few social events. They were in charge of all Pep assemblies in conjunction with the Pep Club. Student Council also put together food baskets which they delivered to the unfortunate families who were unable to provide necessities for themselves in our area during the holidays. Some of the members even volunteered to assist in the Special Olympics.

There were 105 people involved in the Student Council, including the five executive board members. Each class elected twenty-one representatives plus five class board members. The five executive board members were: Ann O'Connor, president; Christine Campuzano, Vice President, Julie Yost, Corresponding Secretary; Liz Corbin, Recording Secretary; and Scott Nelles, Treasurer.

The Student Council met every Tuesday on a rotating schedule in the Little Theater. The single most important item was to benefit the students and to learn leadership skills.

Entertainment for the homecoming dance is discussed by Brian Benner and Scott Brandt.

Alone in the middle of the gym floor, Scott Nelles explains to his audience on the bleachers why he should be elected treasurer of the executive board.

NEW SYSTEM CAUSES CONTROVERSY

Under a Board of Education referendum, an altered weighted grade plan and a new policy regarding valedictorians and salutatorians was implemented for the 1986-87 year. It replaced the old system of past years permanently. The Board passed both of these proposals on July 14, 1986.

Unlike the old plan that penalized students that took more than six credits, the new plan gave these students an added calculated figure into their grade point average. According to Dr. Thomas Shirely, the new averages would not differ greatly for the old ones. Many students enjoyed this particular part of the plan because students with zero hour classes and especially students in band and orchestra did not get penalized for their extra classes.

The second part of this plan involved doing away with valedictorians and salutatorians. Students graduating with grade point averages (GPAs) of 5.2000 and above received highest honors; students GPAs between 5.0000 and 5.1999 received high honors; students with GPAs between 4.8000 and 4.9999 received honors.

This was the part of the plan that sparked the most controversy. Many students and faculty felt that the number one student(s) should have been acknowledged as valedictorian/salutatorian, more than just having received highest honors. "I guess the new idea is all right because more people will receive honors, but I feel there should also be a valedictorian," stated Joe Gagliardi.

Sylvia Dobo was against the new system. "It is unfair to change the system during my senior year. I had worked hard for three years, and now my goal (of being valedictorian) is not an option. I don't believe senior students were really consulted. I'm sure some really don't care, but they probably weren't eligible for valedictorian or salutatorian."

ENGLISH LAB HELPS STUDENTS

Last year, during the fourth quarter, the English lab was closed to students who were not in lower level classes. This caused quite an uproar among people who were used to going to the lab for extra help and to use the computers.

"There was no clear-cut understanding of the contract last year," commented Bob Kupon, who now runs the lab, "Because the lab is federally funded, we had to follow the contract to the letter, even if it meant depriving students."

However, there was a revising of the contract, and students continued to utilize the lab as before. Under the new contract, people who were referred by their teachers could go to room 144 to receive help with their language skills. They were taught on a one-to-one basis, which Kupon claims to be very successful.

"We try to keep the atmosphere as nonthreatening as we can. Everything is relaxed and calm. Of course the students weren't enthusiastic at first, but they learned to enjoy it."

No grade was given, and it was done on a time schedule set up by Kupon and the student. So far, over 50 students have benefitted from the lab.

"In the future, I hope for a continuation of the lab as it definitely has a place here at Wheeling," Kupon concluded.

REVOLUTION IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION

While playing badminton, Nancy Sanchez returns her opponent's serve.

To prove his strength on the grip test, Gabor Svagrik squeezes with all of his might.

Amidst numerous student complaints, placement tests, and talk of cardiovascular fitness, a new physical education curriculum was instituted this year. Gone were the days of separate classes for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors and seniors. Gone were the days of spending three weeks participating in a sport and then going on to three weeks of another activity. Physical Education switched from teaching recreational pursuits to placing an emphasis on physical, especially cardiovascular, fitness.

Students were divided into four groups based on the results of five tests given at the beginning of the year and at the end of each quarter: 12 minute run, sit-ups, grip strength, skin fold, and sit and reach.

During class, students engaged in activities designed to develop cardio vascular fitness, swimming or running circuits for example, three days a week. The other two days were typically spent either in the weight room or in recreational pursuits, such as volleyball, basketball, badminton, floor hockey, or the ever popular pickle ball.

Students grades were based not only on participation, but also on how much they improved, especially going up a group. There was also a written test given each quarter on such topics as cardiovascular fitness and flexibility.

The new P.E. program was instituted in response to a nation wide trend towards improving fitness among children and young adults, which studies have shown to be at an unhealthy low. The program is currently only in use in a handful of schools across the country.

Another change in the P.E. system was the introduction of the athletic waiver, which allowed juniors and seniors taking part in a sport to be exempt from P.E., taking a study hall or an academic class in its place.

WEE WILLY'S PRESCHOOL

Preschool for high school students? Such a thing does exist; but unlike what we normally think of preschool, this one's a lot different.

At Wee Willy's, students learn not only to take care of small children, but also learn to deal with the people of the adult world. With Mrs. Carol Windus's help, the students learn to enhance their ability of reading, writing, notetaking, and the ability to discuss issues in a logical and concise manner. They develop an awareness of the committees, responsibilities, challenges, and rewards that are involved in the decision to become a parent; and they, hopefully develop a comprehension of the human reproductive system and things that deal with children and how they grow and mature.

The courses of child development were many and varied from taking care of newborns to looking after and teaching five and six year-olds. The course starts with child development where the activities were designed to strengthen the students' understanding of factors affecting a child's development from preconception to age eight. The course ended with parenting where students were given the opportunity to examine the realities of parenthood and family life.

Through these courses students learned how to respond to children with love and respect. When asked to summarize her classes Windus said, "The main goal for many of my classes was to teach the students how to work together; which is a skill that will help them with their later lives. Working together is necessary to any job that a person might have."

WHS hosted the first Illinois Science Olympiad on Saturday, April 12, 1986. The team did a superb job placing a close second to Buffalo Grove High School, but the team did not earn the right to compete in the National Science Olympiad. However, eleven students did place at the Olympiad winning first through third place olympic-style medals.

First place winners were John Boffard ('86) in Fermi Questions and Seven-Up, Diane Pietrzak in Rocks to Riches. Winning second place were Boffard in Egg Drop and Orienteering, and Bhavesh Patel ('86) in Metric Evaluation. Third place winners were Patel in Periodic Table, Ed Mundt ('86) in Science Search. WHS's Pentathlon and Science Bowl teams also came in third place.

Most coaches were science teachers. Science teachers who participated in the Olympiad were Ms. Carol Benzing, Mr. Jim Messer, Mr. Nathan Stofferegen, Mr. Dan Majka, Mr. Amado Garcia, Ms. Jo Ann Bibergall, Mr. Ron Royer, Mr. Terry Mondy, Mr. Pete Olgilvie, Mr. Don Bauder, and Mr. Pete Fishbach. The coaches, along with the science department, worked very hard to create some of the events, organize the activities, and train the students to participate. Mrs. Barbara Svoboda was the coordinator of the entire event. She stated, "It was an honor for Wheeling High School to be the first to host in Illinois. It generated a lot of enthusiasm among the staff and the students." Svoboda concluded, "I was very pleased with winning second place. I think the team did a great job."

NEW CLASS ADDS DIVERSITY TO DEPARTMENT

Changes swept through every department, and the Foreign Language/Social Science Department was also effected. A new class was offered that had never been offered before. The class was entitled "Civic Awareness" and taught by Mr. Darren Llewellyn. This class was special because it was only offered in two other schools in the district.

The course covered national, state, and city government. It taught students how to become involved in politics. Civic Awareness was explained in full detail as to how the government was structured. "The main ploy of the course is to explain what the government really is; how it (the government) is really structured; and to get students interested in all levels of politics so they can become mature, responsible adults when it is time to vote, or even run for a public office," stated Llewellyn.

Since Llewellyn was the only teacher teaching Civic Awareness, he had a lot of work to do to prepare for the class. "I needed to find material on state and local governments," he added, "I also had to know what I was talking about." All in all, the course was well received by all who participated in it.

MY FAVORITE CLASS OF THE DAY . . .

"Business Law- I have interests in both business and law; plus the teacher is funny and so is Cindy Oddo" - Scott Pollard

"Biology-the class itself was all right but the teacher, Mr. Phillip, was a swell guy"- David Young

"Art- it gives me time to relax and let my creativity flow. I really look forward to this class"Liz Corbin

"U.S. History- the teacher, Mr. Hague, made it a point to include everybody in class activities. He also was always happy. It was fun being his student"- Brian Richardson

"Clothing- I get to work at my own pace and I love to sew"- Nancy Oehler

"Lunch- I can always get an A in that"- Ed Minnema

"Madrigals- the people are great; the music is challenging and it allows me to express more of myself"- Liz Joyce

As Jennifer Monte shows Darrell Ramsey her fighting ability, Kimberl
Frendereis gets some pointers.

A game of shooting, dodging, and ducking that keeps you on your toes.

PHOTON WARRIORS

The voice welcomed you "Photon Warriors." Green and red lights began to flash. Players took to the ramps; others searched out the lower level. A light fot filled the center of the room. Strategy was set. Suddenly, the field became alive. Players scrambled around mazes, ducked behind walls, took aim through railings. Both red and green warriors pivoted back and forth to prevent another player from scoring. The object of the game was to score the most points within six and half minutes. Each game cost $3.50 per ticket. Players scored points by using a light beam gun shooting at opponents. Points were registered for shooting players in the helmet, in a power pack, on their chest, or by shooting the opposing team's base goal. Two teams of ten players could plan strategy and rack up points.

From observation decks above the game, players could also shoot at the participates below. The scene resembled something right out of "Star Wars." Provisions were made for the less adventurous. With a $1.00 token, a visitor could man a phaser. The participant would take aim at players below, but unlike suited warriors in live action, phaser players did not temporarily shut off opponents equipment with on target zaps. They did not have the fear of return shots.

Kathy Wallace commented, "It is a great place to go that is different and out reality."

Michele Catuscelli added, "You can meet a lot of people there and have lots of fun."

Mike Perrone and Robert Vole stated, "Photon is fantabulisticly fantastic, man."

PEER COUNSELING RECRUITS MORE PEOPLE

"It's a more upbeat program," said Mr. Brent Wilson, sponsor of the Peer Counseling program.

The group of more than 20 members was much larger than in previous years.

Mr. Craig Ameel, co-sponsor, agrees, "This program is more challenging individually." He continued, "I like this program, it's different than the one I worked in before."

Teachers or students recommend people who they think are good listeners and would be willing to help their peers.

The Peer Counselors also have to be friendly, outgoing, have unique personalities and get along with everybody.

Before the Peer Counselors get a chance to help people, they go on field trips to learn basic training information.

Topics in this training include: signs of depression/suicide, friendship, risk-taking, listening skills and how to relate with people. These are also discussed at the weekly meetings.

Ann O'Conor, a two year member, commented, "It started out much better than last year. There is a lot more enthusiasm and commitment involved."

Another two year member, Michelle Jacksier, commented, "I think I am a better friend now. I can listen and understand people better than ever before."

After the announcement of the Homecoming Queen, Kathy Kovanda, Dan Tajbl, Sue Murray and Rick Harris lead the crowd in the singing of the Alma Mater.

With cheers all around her, Angie Hamilton, junior class attendant, smiles proudly on her way into the coronation assembly.

STUDENTS PROMOTE SPIRIT

The cheerleaders and the pom-pom squad projected school spirit by performing at the games, but the student body helped out by participating in the many events sponsored by the Student Council.

Many students painted little paws on their faces, while others went all out and painted their whole face with blue and yellow paint. People sprayed their hair with different colors. Blue and gold hairspray became a necessity.

The senior class lead a lot of cheers at the football games. To show their enthusiasm, the junior class wore their class shirts to motivate players. Dressed in blue, gold, and white the sophomore class cheered for the Wildcats. It was a surprise to most upperclassmen, but the freshman class had the best overall attendance at the games.

The Pep Club was started to promote more school spirit and student involvement. The Pep Club planned pep assemblies and went to home sports events as a group. They also planned floats, publicity, and special effects for the games. All members of the Pep Club wore the same sweatshirts on Fridays during the game. They cheered for all the fall, winter, and spring sports.

"The spirit of the fans really motivated us to try our best," commented Steve Carasso, football player.

GETTING AHEAD

Cosmetology, a program provided for junior and senior girls wishing to join the work force directly after high school, was a unique opportunity to receive a beautician's license while receiving high school credit. Students received a total of five credits over the two year program.

Students were bussed to two beauty schools, Arlington Academy of Beauty Culture and Ippolito School of Beauty Culture. Students remained at beauty school three and a half hours and at high school for three periods daily.

In the two year program students learned the skills necessary to become competent beauticians. After working hard in the classroom, students learned numerous techniques. Included in the program were: hair sculpting, permanent waving, roller control, hair coloring, manicures, make up, shampooing, and hair removal. Students then progressed onto the floors to work with beauty school customers. The public came in daily and students were required to work on clients. Discounted prices were given to clients as this work was a learning experience for the students.

Senior cosmetology student, Kathy Wallace, commented, "Going through the cosmetology program gave me an excellent chance to get a head start on the future." Laurie Lockefeer added, "It is giving me a chance to have a back up career for later on." Stacy Jerome also added, "It is a lot of fun to be in, but you miss a lot of school activity being gone all morning."

In many places, the water from the flood covers parts of cars and people's homes, finally stopping after reaching a depth of 14 feet.

WATERLOGGED STUDENTS

The flood was thought to be the worst disaster in Illinois history. The flood of '86 affected many students' lives. Because of the nine days of rain from September 25 to October 4, the water level of the Des Plaines River rose to a record high and flooded many homes and apartments in the Mr. Prospect and Wheeling area. The water flooded several apartments and homes causing many people to retreat to higher ground with their valuables. Damage over came objects that were hard to move out quickly. Very few of the home owners had ever thought to get flood insurance. Members of the community took off work and school and stayed up nights filling sandbags to help the effort. During this time of tragedy, the members of the community became closer.

The sandbags helped keep the water back and away from getting the first floors, but the basements were flooded and people had to move their possessions to higher ground and pump out the water. During this time while all of that effort was going on, more truck loads of sand were being dropped off for filling sandbags. The American Red Cross gave out soup and tetanus shots to all needy people. After the water had gone down, the people started getting their lives back together. They had to cope with the damage and start to repair and rebuild their homes and lives again. The flood will not be soon forgotten.

SHAPE UP OR SHIP OUT

March 11 kicked off a new project for all students and faculty. The program was entitled Wellness Week, and its purpose was to make everyone aware of common health issues. The program lasted one week, and it included over a dozen different workshops and seminars.

Sexuality seminars played a large part of this program. Male-female relationships were discussed in great detail. Sexually transmitted diseases, including AIDS, were also part of this segment.

An even bigger part of this program was directed towards being healthy and in good physical condition. Topics covered in this area were nutrition, aerobics, and smoking. These, along with workshops from OMNI Youth Services, Drugs and the Laws, Alateen — an organization for teenage alcholics, Ananon — an organization for family members and friends of alcoholics, SADD, and Earth People added more information and interest to the educational week.

The third part of the Wellness Week activities was directed towards teen problems and was best brought out from the Idea Theatre Group. The group kicked off the program at an all school assembly and covered many topics including peer pressure, divorce, loneliness, nutrition, and suicide. All topics that the theatre group covered had workshops that went along with them.

The final segment of Wellness Week was exclusively for seniors. It was a workshop entitled "Breaking Away". This program focused on what seniors can expect after graduation.

The entire program was directed by Freddie Mitchell, guidence counselor. She was pleased with the results of the program and made plans on having similar programs in the future.

GIVING THE WRONG EXCUSE

But my dog ate it . . . " Excuses, many people use them to get out of any "sticky" situations which they have managed to get themselves into. Some people are lucky enough to get away with an excuse; some unlucky ones are not.

An excuse, as stated in the Webster's Dictionary, "Is a reason; an inferior explanation, an attempt to free of blame, to try to minimize or pardon, etc." Ask any teacher and they will probably tell you an entire stream of excuses given to them by students. Students who don't have their homework done for whatever reason. Most of the explanations students give have almost no basis and very little imagination. "My sister drew on it with a crayon." "My mom threw it away." "I had to go to my uncle's funeral . . . " Sound familiar? One would think kids would get rid of the old ones and come up with a few new ones.

With a little time and imagination, any student can come up with an excuse. There are a few students that do, and they do it to save their skins. This brings up the reason kids give excuses. They want to continue living. It's a very good reason actually; even if what they did to get into trouble wasn't so great.

But whatever the reason, an excuse usually gets the user deeper into trouble, instead of getting him out. An excuse may sound like a great idea, but remember, teachers were once students, too. They've heard all of the excuses, and have used them, too. Teachers aren't to be fooled so easily.

During English class, Therese Tomaszewski leans over to help Kevin Novak revise his paper.

Improvements in computer resource rooms allow students more opportunities to work on anything from grammar and punctuation to computer programs. In the CAL lab, Brett Burton uses an Apple II E computer and printer to complete an assignment.

FACE LIFT FOR COMPUTERS

Benefitting from increased interest, computer rooms acquired more facilities, while an improved format was stressed in the computer classrooms. All of the older Apple II Plus computers were replaced by more up to date Apple II E models. Emphasis in computer classes shifted from learning to write programs, to working with prewritten software- or productivity software. Productivity software enabled students to use more modern resources like those used in the business world, including word processors, spreadsheets, and file management software.

Approximately 130 computers and 40 printers were available to students throughout various resource rooms. The Computer Assisted Learning (CAL) lab offered 30 computers and two printers to students who were enrolled in computer classes including Introduction to Computers, Cobol, and Pascal, as well as students who used computers for homework assignments and games.

Along with Apple II E computers, three IBM computers widely used in the business world, gave business students a chance to gain first-hand experience in current computer technology. These improvements were only enhanced by the addition of two new software classes that stressed computer business knowledge.

The Information Processing lab with 30 computers and five printers also familiarized students with computers and various programs including Keyboarding Primer, the Sensible Speller, the Typing Tutor, and the Writer. Equipped with two computers and one printer, the federally funded Language Skills lab offered remedial help in grammar, vocabulary, and sentence structure to those students recommended by their teachers. Aided by many improvements, computer resource rooms prepared students for a more successful future in a world enhanced by computers.

WIDENING HORIZONS

The Rotary Club of Wheeling sponsored two exchange students for a full year. One student, Patti Fiuza from Brazil, stayed with three different Wheeling families for her stay in the United States. Fiuza was here from January, 1986 and departed in January, 1987. While she attended school, she became very involved in extra curricular activities including choir, drama, and art.

When Fiuza first came to America, she did not speak a lot of English, but within the first few months she was speaking English fluently. Before Fiuza left in January she was asked how she felt coming to Wheeling all by herself and leaving her family behind in Brazil.

"I thought I was alone, but after a while, I started to talk and meet people and make friends. I really like it here."

What will she miss most? "I will miss junk food the most, (especially) chocolate chip cookies, cable T.V., high school art, choir, and acting — all of the fine art activities that are here in public high school that aren't in public high schools in Brazil."

The second student, Debi Thomas from Banket, Zimbabwe, arrived the end of January and will depart in January, 1988. Unlike Fuiza, Thomas spoke English fluently before her arrival. Thomas thought that life here was tremendously different from her tobacco and maize (corn) farming life in Zimbabwe. "It was a big change. I went to an all girls school. It's great fun having boys in the class."

"I've always wanted to come to America, (but) it was really scary (leaving home). People say hello to me just because I'm an exchange student, but most are sincere."

In her new acting class, Debi Thomas discusses life in Zimbabwe with Shelly Margolius and Dan Collins.

ADVISER TRAVELS TO CHINA

Mrs. Laurie Rossi, English teacher, spent the school year on a sabbaticle teaching in Beijing, China. A sabbaticle is time off to teach at another school. A teacher participates in this enrichment program studying the different cultures and methods of teaching. Rossi learned of this program through Xiao Ping. a 1985 foreign exchange teacher from China. Any teacher could have volunteered; however, the program only needed one. Rossi had a big decision to make. She had to decide if she would go on with the screenings and resumes. She also needed approval of her immediate supervisor, plus the approval of the school board. She decided to go through the trauma of leaving her family and friends to travel halfway around the world for an entire year. Rossi saw this as a once in a lifetime chance.

She left at the end of August, 1986. After arriving in China she stayed at the Friendship Hotel, outside of Beijing. Mrs. Rossi taught the most important class at the college, Senior Advanced Reading, along with two other classes. When she was not in a classroom or preparing to teach, she would be found either jogging or riding her bike down the streets in search of souvenirs for friends and family or at work on her novel in her hotel room. Although Rossi thoroughly enjoyed herself, she still anticipated the moment when the plane would touch American soil again. Writing a column for the Spokesman helped keep students and faculty in touch with her adventures throughout the year.

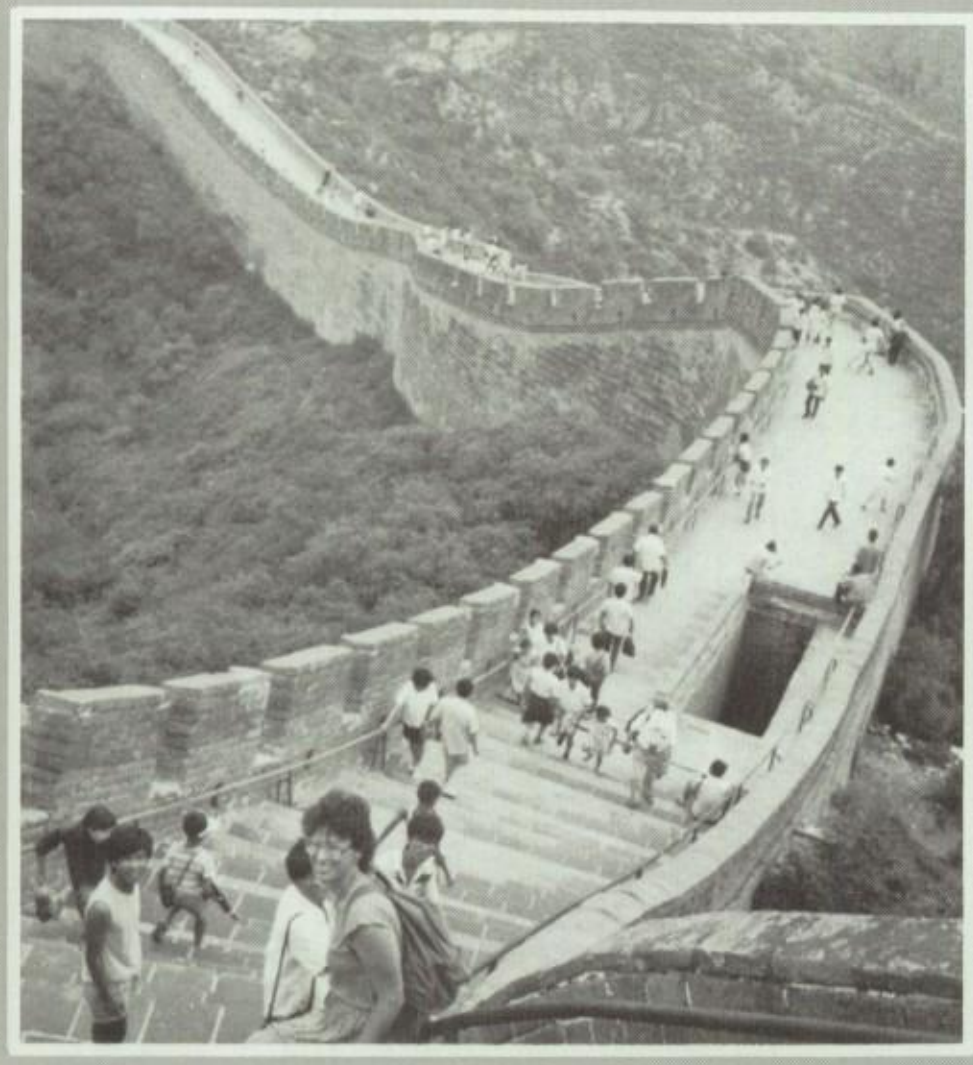
Mrs. Lisa Isenstien, sits on the only man made structure visible from space, The Great Wall of China.



Teacher Scales Great Wall

Speech therapist, Lisa Isenstein, journeyed to China this past summer. She visited ten cities: Hong Kong, Guilin, Kunming, Dali, Lijiang, Chengdu, Leshan, Beijing, Shanghai, and Souchow.

Isenstein recalled some of the occurrences she had when she was in China. She said that Souchow reminded her of Venice, with the canals that ran through the city.

She enjoyed Leshan, where the biggest Buddha in the world resides. "To give you an idea of how big the Buddha is- people sat on it's big toe and ate their lunch," Isenstein commented.

An experience she hopes to forget was the fourteen hour bus ride from Lijiang to Chengdu, she exclaimed, "There was no where to sit, we had to stand the whole way on an old bus that took us through the mountains, it was very bumpy and in the middle of the trip the driver's door flew open."

Dali was an unusual place that she visited because ethnic tribes lived there. Her favorite place to visit was Yungchou, a small town outside Guilin, because of the relaxing atmosphere and the sensational artwork.

The price of the hotel rooms ranged from a mere $.40 to an inexpensive $3.00, On the whole trip Isenstein spent only $300.00 "Everything is so inexpensive," she recalled.

When asked what things she missed most from America, she giggled and replied, "Being able to read a menu and brush my teeth in tap water."

Isenstein went to China because she always had been interested in their art and food. In addition, it was an exotic place to go. "I had the time during the summer vacation, and I had always been interested in the history of China," concluded Isenstein.

TEACHERS TELL ALL

Throughout the years many teachers encountered some funny yet embarrassing moments.

While using the blender to prepare a "liver milk-shake" for a lab, Ms. JoAnne Bibergall, science teacher, forgot to put the lid on and had liver shoot out onto the ceiling and come raining down on her. "I smelled like liver for days!" she recalls.

Ms. Freddie Mitchell, counselor, tells about the time when she was teaching PE. As she was changing clothes in her office, the principal walked in without knocking, and she was standing there in her underwear.

During a spectrum demonstration in Pysical Science Chemistry, Mr. Terry Monday touched both high voltage leads on a spectrum tube lamp. "The ensuing shock left the girls screaming, and me shaking in front of the whole class," he said.

Mispronounciation, faulty equipment, and instructions that are not quite followed to the letter also provided some teachers with funny stories.

Mr. Mike Hurley, English teacher, mispronounced "small group communication" as "small grope communication."

Over the loud speaker during a Square Dance Class, Ms. Pattie Ritchie, PE instructor, asked the class to "Pace their Fartners."

Pulling a movie screen down, Ms. Carol Benzing, science teacher, had the whole thing come out of the wall and crashed to the ground. "Students joked that I didn't know my own strength," she said.

"In my first year or second of teaching, the principal was observing my class when the projector started to act up. He offered to help, and we ended up with several hundred feet of film on the floor," recollected Ms. Kathleen Betterman, German teacher. Unfortunately, many students do not realize it takes a sense of humor as well as a degree to be a teacher.

Background of Color

The influences of innovation, variety, originality, intensity, and pride in performance were evident through out all of 1986-87. Every area of athletic, academic, and social life consisted of people diverse in their own ethnic, cultural, and individual ideals; yet each individual within the many different groups was able to express himself while expanding the outlook of his peers. Both individual and team goals were set and achieved. Many athletic teams earned sectional, regional, conference, and state honors, while individual honors reached the state level.

Wheeling High also gained individual and team honors. WHS was chosen as a finalist out of 24 Illinois nominees in the National Secondary Recognition Program, as well as one of the few schools from Illinois selected for a site visit. (Results not available at press time.) State honors were also given to baseball coach Ron DeBolt. He was inducted in to the Illinois High School Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame for excellence in teaching and coaching over a period of 19 years.

The variety within the student body and programs enabled everyone to develop talents that would provide a strong academic and individual background of "color" from which every person would be able to rely on to create their own future. In a world of college costs reaching more than $10,000 a year; nuclear arms talks, disagreements, and testing; and international terrorism; Wheeling Wildcats must develop their own "colors" to their fullest potential, while relying on their background colors of Blue, Gold, and White:

Fight Wheeling Wildcats, for alma mater fight,
Glory in the combat for the blue, gold, and white
Fight Fight Fight
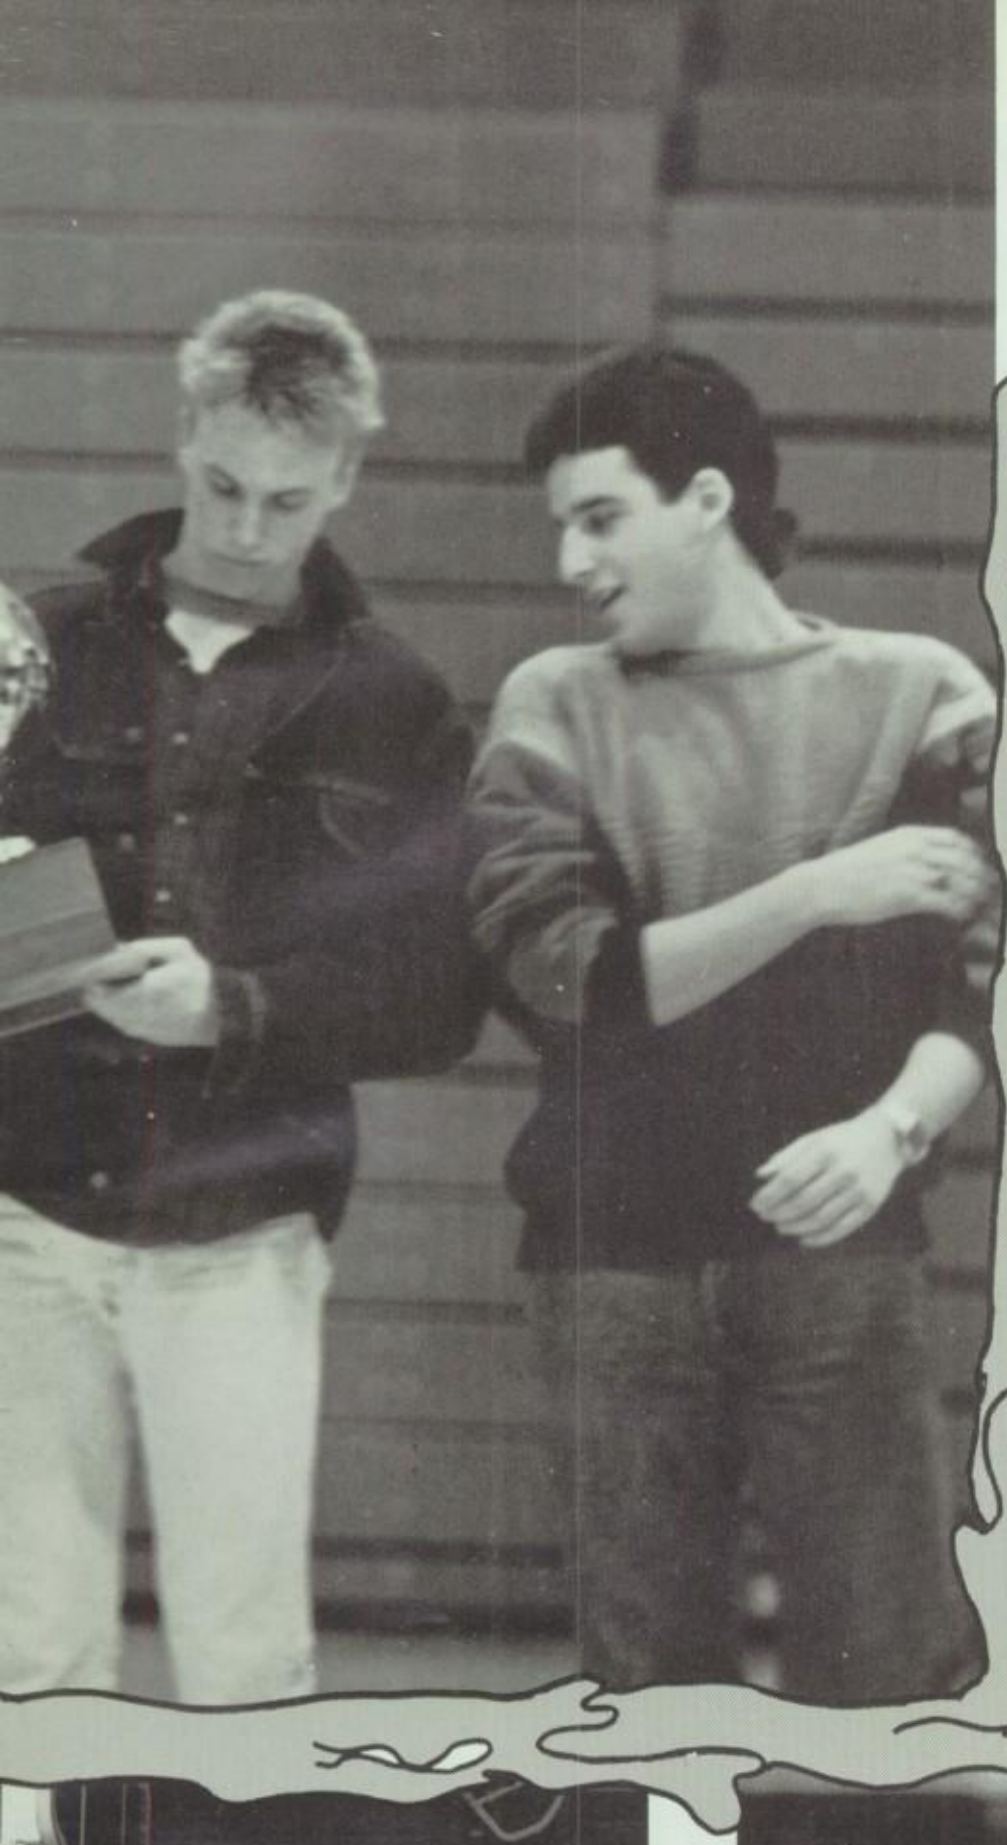
Faithful to our colors, we will ever be Fighting ever, fighting for a Wildcat victory!

With a few moments to herself, Karen Nardella takes advantage of the warm weather in the courtyard to study for her next class.



Hard work and dedication paid off for the varsity basketball team after being selected as the Z-95 radio station's team of the week. Admiring the trophy are team members Tim Nisbet, Steve Jemilo, Mike Miloch, and Dan Tovrog Pride in performance was evident in the number of students selected as Illinois State Scholars. At the reception for the state scholars, Amy Cericola accepts her certificate from Dr. Thomas Shirley.

At the Homecoming game, Homecoming Queen Dawn Samuelson and her father cheer on the efforts of the blue, gold, and white.

Struggling to keep the ball from the hands of Buffalo Grove, John Bencko stretches to the limit as Jason Payne blocks his opponent.

Blue, Gold and White

Recognized for his pride in performance, Coach Ron DeBolt accepts the Illinois High School Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame plaque from chairman Ken McGonagle.

In the Career Information Center, college counselor John Kaltsas and Dr. Thomas Shirley speak to Illinois State Scholars about future education plans.

Shouts of excitement and blue, gold, and white jerseys display schoo spirit at a pep assembly for the athletic teams.

AUTOGRAPHS

Vach,

Dick, you've got too many Autographs! You'll never fill all. Well, Vach, check it's a clock and I'm writing this because I'm bored. I'm going to go to the gym for some t thing, so I'll have to go.

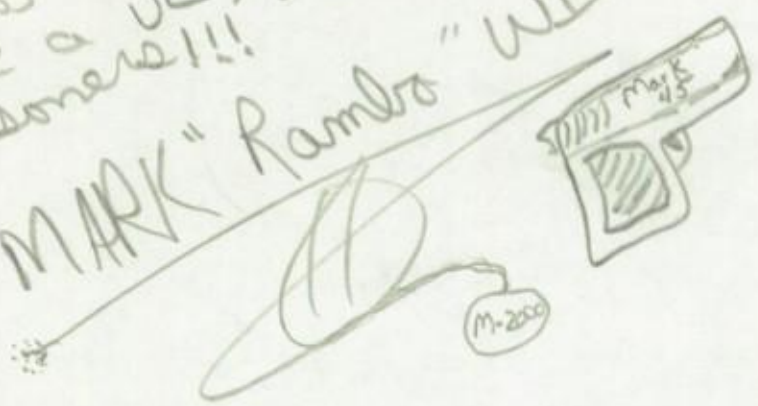
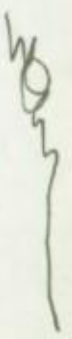
Hey Vachee.
I had a pretty fun year
w/ you in Miss Murphys class.
If you ever see a uc, Look and Run
& Take No Prisoners!!!





r, The Great one!!
I will maybe see you
during the summer, so I can't say much. You should play floor hockey with us, mind you. Even that awesome hockey star, Mark Hong, shall be there. He shall teach us great tricks of wonder.
Yet, If you do play F.H.
with us, he'll have to show us how its done.
Kelp playing basketball and next year you'll better make the A team. Have a great summer

Sincerely,

for a long time and I hope
we will always stay friends!
See you over the Summer.
Lana! P.S. I'll call you over the summer, and pick you up in my Ferrari Testarossa

"THE GREAT ONE",

I WILL MAYBE SEE
YOU DURING THE SUMMER
SO I CAN'T SAY MUCH.
YOU SHOULD PLAY FLOOR
HOCKEY WITH US, MIND YOU.
IF YOU DO PLAY F.H. WITH US I WOULD HAVE TO SHOW
YOU HOW IT'S DONE. KEEP PLAYING
BASKETBALL AND NEXT YEAR YOU
BETTER MAKE THE 'A' TEAM. HAVE
